Legislature Is Flooded by Rash of Bills

103rd Assembly Gets Started on Business; Scooter Change Asked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Apparently, Ohio lawmakers are finding it difficult to determine priority on the problems they face.
By a 4-3 margin Tuesday, they seemed to feel the most important thing is to get 14-year-old motor scooter operators off the streets and highways. Four such bills were offered in the Ohio House as the 103rd General Assembly opened.
Three bills were introduced in the Democratic-dominated Legislature to permit simultaneous payment of supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) and state jobless benefits.
Close on the heels of the two top proposals were two other bills to permit county officials to collect higher fees for those who use the services of their offices. A similar proposal was approved two years ago by a Republican legislature, but vetoed by former Gov.
Gov. C. William O'Neill.
But, strangely, none of the 50 bills introduced bore the label
"Administration Bill." Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said he had discussed none of the measures with the legislators who offered them.
Both houses, scheduled, late-morning sessions today in an effort to wind up the week's work.
Serious legislative effort is due to get under way next week, but introduction of bills still will dominate the activities.
One of the big proposals in the Senate was a bill to prohibit discrimination in hiring on the basis

Bills Presented By Legislators From the Area

By Our Staff Correspondent
COLUMBUS — Three area legislative delegates offered measures Tuesday as both Houses of the 103rd Ohio General Assembly started the flow of bills.
Sen. J. E. Simpson (R-Forest) introduced a bill to give greater latitude to joint-type chattel and real estate mortgage, such as machinery that might be ruled either chattel or real estate.
Sen. Tom V. Moorehead (R-Zanesville) offered a bill to convey Ohio and Erie canal land in Muskingum County to an individual.
Rep. F. K. Cassel (R-Wyandot)

Policy Modification Studied German Question Reviewed by U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States may be willing to modify its policy on German reunification if it can get West Germany and other Allies to agree on some revised formula.
The whole German situation is under intensive review in the State Department in preparation for new exchanges on the subject with the Soviet government.
President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles expect to discuss Germany, including Berlin and the reunification problem, in talks with Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan Friday and Saturday.
Dulles gave the tipoff on possible modification of the U. S. stand at a news conference Tuesday. He said reunification of East and West Germany through free elections—the formula the Allies have backed for years—is not the only method by which East and West Germany could be merged. But he declined further questioning to specify what other methods were possible.
West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has always opposed any alteration of this formula.
The Soviet government—in spite of an apparent agreement to such elections at Geneva in 1955—has insisted on a merger worked out directly between the East and West German regimes.
Innovations Possible
The end result of current State Department discussions, subject to consultation with the European Allies, could be some innovations in United States and Western policy, or a new decision to stand firm on present policies.
Apart from the discussions with Mikoyan, the United States and other Western nations face the necessity of replying soon to the Soviet proposal for a peace conference on Germany to meet in March.
This proposal and a Soviet suggested treaty draft are sure to be rejected by the Allies. However, Dulles obviously wants to come up with some counter proposal that will bring East and West closer to a conference.
Bankers Hosts
At Lunch for Soviet Visitor
NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan puts an expert finger on the pulse of the American financial system today. He is to lunch in Wall Street with bankers.
The return of the top Soviet trade expert to New York Tuesday night provoked relatively little disturbance.
Although several hundred anti-Communist European refugees had been alerted for picket duty at Idlewild Airport, only about 20 showed up. They were herded off by police to a distant parking lot behind a wire fence, too far away for Mikoyan to see their placards.
An ominous warning followed Mikoyan from Los Angeles, where he capped a whirlwind tour across the country. Los Angeles Police Chief William H. Parker said Tuesday night that foreign intelligence sources warned him. Mikoyan "would not be allowed to leave this country alive."
Parker did not elaborate.
Hundreds of police swarmed over Idlewild to form a precautionary security blanket exceeded only by safety measures accorded the President of the United States.
Mikoyan was greeted at the airport by Arkady Sobolev, Soviet ambassador to the United Nations, and Richard C. Patterson, New York City commissioner of commerce and public events.
A police escort led Mikoyan's limousine to the Russian U. N. delegation headquarters on Park Avenue.

Youth 'Grounded' For Life by Court

A lifetime suspension of his driving rights was handed an 18-year-old Richmond youth when he appeared in Marion Municipal Court Tuesday to answer a speeding charge.
The youth, James L. Kelley, 18, also was fined $50 and costs and given a 10-day suspended jail sentence by Judge W. Dexter Hazen.
Kelley was arrested by state patrolmen who said they caught him going 95 miles an hour at 11 p.m. Monday on Rt. 23 heading toward Marion.
Patrolmen said Kelley had just gotten his license back a week after a 90-day suspension in Union County. It was suspended there after a speeding conviction, patrolmen reported.

Executions 'Necessary,' Castro Says

Claims Cuba in Need Of 'Purifying' After 6 Years of Dictatorship

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Rebel leader Fidel Castro contends the executions springing from his civil war victory are necessary to purify Cuba after six years of dictatorial rule.
The future course of the revolutionary purge was a subject of conflicting statements, but Castro made clear in a speech Tuesday night he considers the shooting of "war criminals" justified.
150 Already Executed
Amid mounting criticism abroad, rebel firing squads have executed more than 150 persons on charges of murder, torture and other high crimes during the regime of President Fulgencio Batista, who fled two weeks ago. It is estimated 3,000 others face summary court trials, many of which have been held in secret.
Castro, now chief of the Cuban armed forces, took note of an adverse reaction within the United States in his speech to the Havana Lions Club.
"Why didn't the Americans attack when the Batista government was executing people en masse?"
he asked.
Those killed now were executed to demonstrate that they could not get away with murder and crimes against the people, Castro said.
Takes Similar Stand
A similar defense had been offered in a press statement by the provisional government's foreign minister, Roberto Agramonte.
Agramonte declared that if the new regime did not mete out swift justice, the people would take the law into their own hands to avenge the torture and murder of an estimated 20,000 Cubans by Batista police and troops.
A presidential palace spokesman was quoted Tuesday night by a government press source as saying the government had ordered the suspension of all executions.
The order was reported to have followed a conference between Castro and the man he installed as provisional president, Manuel Urrutia.

Judge Awaits Sentencing in Election Study

Fate of Jurist in Vote Case Will Be Decided By Former Classmate

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) —
A young Alabama judge waited expectantly for a former college classmate to say today whether he must go to jail for disobeying a federal court order to produce vote registration records.
The fate of Circuit Judge George C. Wallace of Clayton, Ala., was expected to be decided by U.S.
Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. at a hearing scheduled for 9:30 a.m.
Johnson twice ordered the 39-year-old Wallace to make the registration files in Barbour and Bullock counties available to Civil Rights Commission agents who are checking complaints of discrimination against prospective Negro voters.
Wallace instead gave the records to county grand juries, which in turn agreed to let the federal agents inspect them in the presence of two members of each jury.
Alternate Course
Johnson could hold Wallace in contempt and send him to jail for failure to comply with the federal court order.
Or, since the civil rights investigators were given access to the files by the grand juries, the federal judge might decide the purse of the case.

MISS TORRE LEAVES JAIL. Marie Torre, a "model prisoner" for 10 days, is shown as she was be-lieged by reporters today after being released from New Jersey's Hudson County Jail to return to her family and television column. She served the sentence after refusing to name the news source in a column she wrote on singer Judy Garland. If Miss Torre is asked again to disclose the name of the source and if she again refuses, she may have to go back to prison. When coming out of jail today, she said she "wouldn't have missed this for the world." But she declined to say whether she would again refuse to disclose the executive's name. (UPI Telephoto)

Reaction VariesYoung Snub of Lausche Criticized, CommendedWASHINGTON (AP)—A sampling of letters showed an even split today in Ohioans' opinion of a recent snub by Sen. Stephen M.
Young (D - Ohio) against Sen.
Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio)."Personally, I think it was a master stroke," said a man in Cleveland. A Springfield man said his first reaction was: "Man, that's wonderful."A woman in Springfield went the other way and said Young should learn to "act like an adult." Others said he was guilty of bad manners.The feelings were voiced in letters to Young concerning his refusal to walk down the Senate aisle with Lausche for the new senator's swearing-in on the opening day of Congress.

Akron Man States Views

Young said his act was prompted by Lausche's refusal to give him a clear endorsement in his campaign against Republican John W. Bricker. The two have since said they mean to get along together, anyway.A woman in Batavia, Ohio, didn't like Young's gesture at all.
She wrote: "When you seek additional publicity, kindly keep in mind that an uncounted many voted not for you but against Mr.
Bricker."In the same vein, a man in Dayton said:
"I voted to send a second Democratic senator to Washington from our state in order to achieve some degree of cooperation....""While your intent may have been to insult Lausche (not commendable in itself) you have also slapped at the voters who elected both of you."

Cities Absence of Support

A man in Akron said he regretted not to be able-up to the present time-to address Young as "honorable."An Ashland man didn't see it that way at all.
"I was glad to see from the papers that you gave Sen. Lausche a dose of his own medicine," he wrote. "He, if consistent, should admire you very much for your independence."A Middletown man said: "It just confirms what we have always known—that you are independent and have the courage of your convictions.""As one good Democrat to another," said a man in Defiance,
"I think you deserve the plaudits of all good Democrats in Ohio."

167% Sales Gain for 1959 Ramblers Proves:It Takes Built-In Rambler Quality
To Give You These Built-In Savingsby GEORGE ROMNEY
President, American Motors CorporationRecently, I overheard two men talking about cars. One said, "I'm just sick. I paid $5,000 for my car and in less than six months it rattles and squeals like a milk wagon. And they can't seem to do anything about it!"Unhappily, this is a remark that is heard far too often. A recent survey showed the greatest number of complaints about the big cars centered on gasoline consumption.
Next came complaints about squeaks, rattles, poor workmanship, "poor body construction."Rambler Owners are Happier because of Rambler's Finer QualityBy contrast, all-round satisfaction of Rambler owners was far higher than that of owners of any other make surveyed, all of whose cars cost more than Rambler. That's because no car manufactured in America—regardless of price—is built to higher standards of engineering quality, of workmanship and of inspection than the 1959 Ramblers. Even a short ride will prove this to you as it has to hundreds of thousands of Rambler owners.Rambler quality is superior because modern, efficient way to build anything that needs to move swiftly, economically and comfortably. It gives more room without bulk. It has far greater torsional strength and rigid-ity, while reducing cumbersome, gas-wasting weight.So, we invested $50,000,000 in new plant facilities to build cars this new and better way. As a result, hundreds of thousands of Rambler buyers have saved tens of millions of dollars on preciation.Safer Single Unit ConstructionPassengers in cars with old-type con-price it will bring as a used car on the tionwide authorities, the Red Book

ficial Used Car Guide of the NationalAutomobile Dealers Association, Rambler has the highest resale value of any low-priced car.The Rambler Star is Soaring.
As other cars grow bigger, heavier and more costly (yet with less usable passenger room), Rambler sales go higher. 1958 Rambler model sales were 88.6% above 1957. And already, sales of 1959 Ramblers are 167.4% above 1958 sales for the same period.Who Will Be the Boss—You or Your Automobile?In many families, the question is as simple as that. The expense of owning and operating a big, gas-hungry car can literally take control of the family finances and wreck the household budget. If you want to own your car instead of its owning you, you will be wise to see your Rambler dealer. See how the 1959 Ramblers, while not neglecting styling and comfort, have been built to "last longer" rather than to "look longer." You will not only save a substantial sum of money, you will have a finer quality car that is more fun to drive.*George RomneyWANTEDPeople from six to ninety to try the

Around City Council's Table

Starting off 1959 with a three-hour meeting, Marion City Council Tuesday night adopted 15 pieces of legislation, 12 of them unanimously, heard some committee reports and discussed other routine business.

All members of council were present as was Fred Baldauf, president, and Mrs. Alta Sheeha, clerk.

Other city officials attending were: Mayor Wendell L. Strong; Safety-Service Director Howard W. Travis; City Auditor Elmer Shaw; Robert Wooley, deputy auditor; City Solicitor Riley Hall; Joseph Galloway, park board chairman and Charles Honaker, street superintendent.

The invocation was by the Rev. Sherwood W. Roach, minister of education at First Presbyterian Church.

The session Tuesday night was a recessed meeting from Monday night.

Janitor Pay Hiked

Adopted 9-0 with only a brief discussion was an ordinance providing for pay adjustments for the city janitor and his assistant.

This ordinance originally proposed elimination of the position of sanitary engineer and an increase in the city engineer's salary from the existing $6,500 a year to $7,800 a year.

Before voting on the ordinance last night, council adopted a motion by Harold Smith (D-at large), finance committee chairman, to delete all sections pertaining to the engineering department.

Mr. Smith was asked by Thomas Fetter (D-at large) if there was any new information from any source pertaining to the engineering department change proposals. Mr. Smith said he had not received any new information since the ordinance was given a first reading Dec. 22.

The proposal was submitted by Mayor Strong as emergency legislation. A few days after the Dec. 22 meeting he said he was withdrawing the provisions pertaining to the engineering department because some of the councilmen opposed it.

Salary change provided for the city hall janitor is an increase of $30 a month to $310. The pay of the assistant janitor was increased 40 cents an hour to $1.47 an hour.

Land Sale Discussed

The proposed sale of a strip of land along Vernon Heights Blvd. just east of Delaware Ave. brought about considerable discussion and the plan was sent to two council committees and the park board for further study.

Public sale of the 2½ acre tract, which extends east 525 feet from the east boundary of the Marion Cemetery, was proposed in a letter to council from the park board.

The letter, signed by Mr. Galloway, noted that the board decided at a duly authorized meeting that the tract is not needed for public use. The tract originally was a part of McKinley Park.

Emmett Osterholt (R-6th) said that he felt before any action was taken to sell it, council should adopt legislation annexing the tract to the city. All the tract now lies outside the city limits. He said this would insure the city of obtaining the taxes from the property.

In answer to a question by the mayor, Mr. Hall said that there is nothing that requires the city to annex the land before selling it.

Mr. Galloway reported that the estimated value of the land is roughly $60 a front foot or a total of $30,000.

Mr. Hall said that he feels that the council committees and park board should consider the overall development of the area and the effects on traffic movement.

Several groups are concerned with these and related problems, he said. Consideration should be given to opening Forest St. as well as Brightwood Dr. all the way to Vernon Heights Blvd., he said.

Both he and Mr. Lister suggested that the county commissioners be asked to meet with the council committees to attempt to reach a solution to the problems before the platting of any new vacant land is accepted by either the county or the city.

The proposal to sell the tract will be studied by the lands and buildings and municipal services committees of council and the park board.

Pool Nearly Ready

A report was submitted by John Robbins (D-1st), chairman of the swimming pool committee, that nearly all the work now has been completed on the Lincoln Park swimming pool.

He said the committee and the park board will meet tonight to discuss the establishment of rates for swimming in the pool this summer and also will discuss possible methods of obtaining funds for erection of a bathhouse.

Part of the filtration equipment has not yet been installed and there is some sodding to be done around the pool to make it ready for use, he said. These things can be completed well ahead of the planned opening of the pool on Memorial Day, he added.

Plans to sell family, adult and child season tickets also will be discussed at tonight's meeting, he said. Money from the sale of the season tickets is to be used to provide operating funds for the pool this summer. There also will be a single admission charge.

Air Hearing Announced

An announcement that the Civil Aeronautics Board has notified city officials of coming hearings on whether or not Lake Central Airlines should be permanently certified to serve Marion and some other cities on its route was made by Mayor Strong.

He said the CAB announced that the hearing will be held sometime in February but the exact date and location were not established. He said he and Mr. Hall plan to represent the city at the hearing. Permanent certification of LCA to serve Marion would aid local industry by providing some security of airline service to the city, he said. It also could help encourage the location of new industry here, he said.

Hospital Rates Set

An ordinance authorizing the Board of Governors of Marion General Hospital to sign a contract with the county welfare department for the care of indigent patients was adopted 9-0 without discussion.

The contract proposes that the welfare board pay the hospital $20 a day for the care and treatment of indigent persons.

Plat Accepted

An ordinance accepting the plat for the Fair Park 6th Addition to the city was adopted 9-0.

The addition contains a total of about 6½ acres, part of which is inside the city limits and part outside. Acting City Engineer T. A. Klingler said that he had checked the plat and found it acceptable from an engineering standpoint.

The ordinance also provides for the dedication of the streets in the part of the addition that is inside the corporation lines to the city. Developer of the area is G. and G. Homes, Inc.

Appointments Okayed

Two resolutions confirming two recent appointments by the mayor and another commending Robert Kelly for his service on the city park board were adopted 9-0.

The appointments confirmed were those of John Makeever to the hospital board of governors and Dr. Frederick T. Merchant to the city health board. Mr. Makeever was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Ellis Oiler. The term expires on Nov. 3, 1961. Dr. Merchant's new term on the health board is for five years and expires Dec. 31, 1963. The resolution commending Mr. Kelly said that he had served faithfully, untiringly and competently as a member of the park board last year. He served as chairman.

Later Mr. Robbins reported that Mr. Kelly has agreed to continue to work with the swimming pool committee until the new municipal pool at Lincoln Park finally is placed in operation.

Curbs To Be Built

A resolution directing the city engineer to prepare plans for the construction of curbs and gutters on Patterson St. from Quarry St. to George St. was adopted 9-0 without comment. The improvement was petitioned by property owners along the street.

Actions Approved

Two resolutions approving actions of the city planning commission were adopted.

One permits Harold and Betty Bell to use a double garage at the rear of their property at 357 Franconia Ave. as a used furniture storeroom.

Mr. Osterholt (R-6th), questioned the propriety of allowing spot commercialization of a new residential area. But he said if the abutting property owners did not object, he would vote to permit establishment of the business. Voting against the proposal were: Mr. Lister (R-at large) and Mr. Doyle (R-3rd), both opponents of spot zoning.

The other permits Ruth Powell to use the kitchen of her residence at 675 Wood St. for a bakery. It was noted that her property is adjacent to a commercially zoned property and that none of the abutting property owners objected.

Only Mr. Doyle voted against adoption of the resolution.

New Lights Approved

A resolution authorizing the Ohio Edison Co. to install some street lights on Underwood Ave. was adopted with brief discussion.

It calls for installation of two new 2,500 lumen lights. Mrs. Norma Jacob (D-5th), utilities committee chairman, said that at present there are no street lights in the area. She said the new lights are needed.

Other Business

In other business last night, council:

Received a detailed report from the city engineering department on its studies of the proposed Adams St. sanitary sewer project. Mr. Lister, sewer committee chairman, said his committee would study the report and make its recommendations to council at a later meeting. He said also his committee will meet next Tuesday night to study the report. The engineers reported the total cost of the Adams St. trunk and branch sewers is estimated at $172,403.

Heard a report by Mayor Strong that part of the street now known as Holmes Pl. has never been dedicated to the city for public use. He asked that the streets and alleys committee investigate this. Mr. Fetter (D-at large) said that even though it has never been dedicated it has become a public street by the right of eminent domain.

Heard a report by Mr. Robbins that "there are at least 1,000 chuckholes in streets in the 1st Ward." One of them caused a wreck in which two women were injured, he said. Mayor Strong said: "Give us $100,000 and we'll fix the streets up." Replied Mr. Robbins, "It's not council's place to bring in a program of this type, but I'll admit, such a program is long overdue."

Heard a suggestion by Mr. Robbins that if the turn lanes at downtown intersections are not going to be enforced, the signs should be removed. He said he believes the system will help reduce traffic congestion if it is enforced. Mayor Strong said that there are too few policemen to enforce it adequately and in addition the public has to develop the habit of observing the turn lanes.

Heard complaints by Mr. Osterholt concerning parking in front of the Patio Restaurant on E. Center

St., and about the no passing zone on E. Center St. He said he feels provisions should be made at intersections to eliminate traffic tie-ups by left turning vehicles. He said parking could be prohibited along the right hand curbs to provide a passing lane. Mayor Strong said this was a good suggestion and it would be studied.

Plan To Close Schools Is Hit In Norfolk, Va.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A City Council resolution that could close all secondary schools here if Virginia's anti-integration laws are ruled unconstitutional appears headed for a court challenge.

The resolution, passed Tuesday by a 6-1 vote, said the council "does not propose, at this time, to authorize" funds for public schooling above the sixth grade after Jan. 31.

Immediate protest came from Edmund D. Campbell, an Arlington lawyer. "Norfolk cannot be permitted to stop education at the sixth grade," Campbell said. "Some legal remedy will be found."

Mayor W. Fred Duckworth said the resolution means the secondary schools "will not open unless there is some radical change in the present situation." He declined to say what a radical change might be.

State and federal court rulings are expected next Monday on the constitutionality of the state's massive resistance program.

The council's action was regarded as a move to prevent school integration in the event the massive resistance laws fail to survive the court tests.

Mount Gilead Man Held On Check Passing Count

GALION—After pleading guilty to a charge of issuing checks with intent to defraud, Robert E. Hawkins Sr., 24, of Mount Gilead, was bound over to the Crawford County grand jury under $1,000 bond.

He appeared before Mayor Edward H. Jones, here Monday afternoon, Hawkins, a parolee from Ohio State Reformatory, was accused of cashing a check for $34.39 at Woogard's Jewelry store when he deposited $10. of the money on a ring and took the change.

He also allegedly received change from a $75 check at the Art Nicholls store where he purchased a $30 record player.

Mr. Nieder is employed at the General Hydraulics Co. and is secretary of the Bucyrus Eagles lodge. Chester Sharrock is a retired Ohio Locomotive Crane Co. employee while Bruce Sharrock is a retired New York Central Railroad employee. 3 Movie Stars Helping Make Sell-Ohio Film

CLEVELAND (AP) — With the help of three Hollywood actors, the state of Ohio hopes to sell the Buckeye State as a good place for industry. The actor-salesmen will appear in a 28-minute color movie costing $75,000.

Some of the studio shots were started Tuesday and the three visiting actors will be here until Friday.

The principals: Brian Donlevy—The vice president of a New York company seeking a place to relocate.

Otto Krueger—The Ohio industrialist who invites the New Yorker to consider a site in this state.

Reed Hadley — The man who helps Krueger show the New Yorker around, eventually selling him on moving to Ohio.

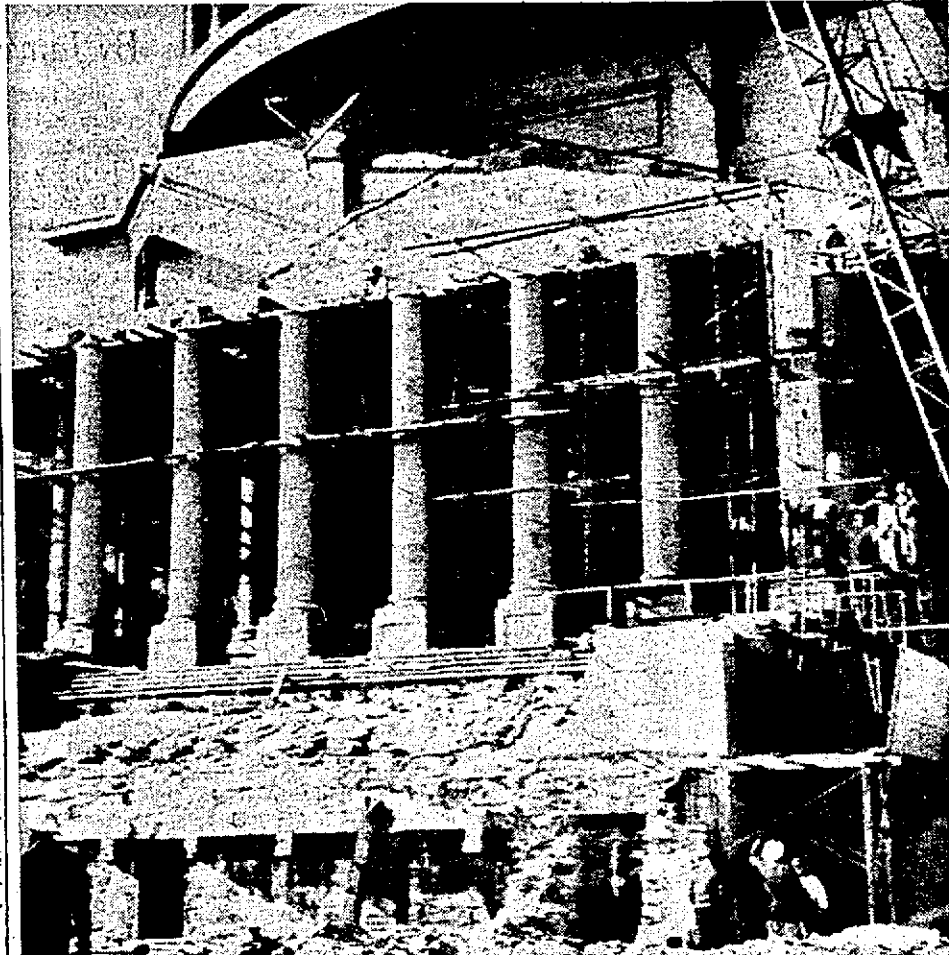

The script, entitled "Ohio—The Growth State," was written by Frank Seidel, a Cleveland long experienced in television.

The appropriation is coming from a long-dormant fund of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

When it is completed, the movie will be shown outside Ohio to interest people in establishing industrial or business firms here.

Lisbon Plant Sold

LISBON, Ohio (AP)—The Brown & Williams Construction Co. of East Liverpool Tuesday acquired the Hood Chemical Co. plant and a 13-acre site here which will be used for industrial development.

WORKMEN DISMANTLE FACADE. The famous East Front of the U.S. Capitol in Washington looks like the ruins of an ancient temple as workmen continue to dismantle the facade piece by piece. The slanted roof of the portico, most of the granite steps and some of the columns already have been removed. The East Front is being extended 32½ feet at a cost of $10.1 million. (UPI Photo)

Gains in Science Noted in World Almanac for 1959

American scientific skill, made 1958 a year of great accomplishments in the view of the World Almanac and Book of Facts for 1959. Its annual survey cites the successful placing of satellites in orbit the conquest of ICBM, the first big try for the moon, and the voyages of the nuclear submarines Nautilus and Skate under the North Pole as proof of the resurgence of American technical capacities.

More influential on the home front, however, says the Almanac, was the election that turned into a victory for the Democrats in many states yet lost them New York, where the Republican candidate, Nelson A. Rockefeller, trounced the Democrat, Averell Harriman, by a majority of more than 500,000 votes, and took the spotlight as a possible contender for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1960.

Next in importance was the quick turn of the recession of early 1958 into the partial recovery of the fall. Actually, this had the greatest effect on the general welfare, cutting down unemployment and engendering optimism concerning the future economy.

In the foreign field, the Almanac finds the United States successfully held the peace in the Middle East by its dispatch of the Marines to Lebanon in conformity with the Eisenhower Doctrine. Here this annual reference volume has much turbulence to report.

The World Almanac for 1959 publishes many new tables of statistics and descriptive matter. Among the latest information in the book is the complete list of cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church, with the 23 named by Pope John XXIII; a report on the first sample religious census taken by the U.S. Government, with its estimates of membership in the major denominations; population returns for many cities that had special censuses in 1957-58, and a roster of federal and state officials and government agencies. It is published by the New York World-Telegram and The Sun, 125 Barclay St., New York 15, N. Y.

Convicted of Murder

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A Common Pleas jury Tuesday found Washington Hayes, 46, Dayton, guilty of second degree murder in the fatal shooting of Austin Winton, 62-year-old kingpin of Dayton's bootleg trade. Sentencing was withheld pending a possible appeal. Hayes claimed he thought Winton was armed and that he shot in self defense when the two quarreled over the price of a pint of liquor July 20.

Auxiliary Police Give Much Time In Assisting Force

Members of the Marion police auxiliary unit donated a total of 1,616 hours to assist city police and to take training in police and civil defense subjects during 1958.

A report of the unit's activities submitted to Mayor Wendell L. Strong noted that this amounted to about three 40-hour weeks for each of the 14 members. It reported that the 6-year total for the auxiliary patrolmen is 6,591 hours.

The annual report lists the number of hours spent by each man and the activities in which each participated. Among the duties performed were patrolling at football and basketball games, assisting at parades and riding cruisers with regular police patrolmen.

Special events during the year included the search for a 2½-year-old girl lost in the Mohican State Forest, the Marion General Hospital disaster drill and the 1958 Operation Alert, a state civil defense exercise.

In addition to serving as an auxiliary to the city police, the organization also is a unit of the 41st Mobile Support Group, Ohio Civil Defense Corps.

Part of the report was read at Tuesday night's meeting of City Council and council and the mayor commended the organization for its activities during 1958.

Halleck To Speak

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — When Stark County Republicans held their annual McKinley Day banquet Jan. 30, the principal speaker will be U. S. Rep. Charles A. Halleck, (R-Ind.), minority leader of the House.

'Inflation Can Be Prevented'

His countrymen back home on Main St. were happier about President Eisenhower's state-of-the-union message than his political associates in Washington.

Whenever a president delivers one of these messages to Congress he reports, in effect, on the state of himself. Mr. Eisenhower looks very much like a chief executive with a stiffened back at the outset of 1959.

If he holds this posture while Congress drones through its 1959 session and arrives at a spending policy, he will become a symbol of the only friend the taxpayer has left in this whole wide world.

He will look like an over-age Goliath winding up to whirl a stone smack-dab between the beady eyes of the spendocrats who have been brandishing a Goliath's club labeled "100-billion-dollar budget." That is their free-wheeling estimate of what the government should be spending to keep even with the Soviet Union.

IT SEEMS incredible that anyone over the age of six could be dumb enough not to understand that the strength of the United States is determined by private spending, not public spending. This is not Russia, where all spending must be done by the Communist masters, or not at all.

There is no comparison between the two countries, yet a movement is afoot in Washington among spendocrats to put the U.S. government into competition with the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics on a public-spending basis. They estimate that 100 million in 1959-1960 would be about right for a start, with much more later.

To them and their inflationary doctrine, President Eisenhower has said in unmistakably clear terms that a budget of 77 billion would be a great plenty.

He has declared that dollar-cheapening inflation which does not worry the spendocrats a bit worries him a lot and can be prevented.

He even has done what few of his countrymen expected a man with his military background would do; he has put his presidential finger in the eye of his former military associates who always want twice as much as they think they can get, which is 20 per cent more than they need.

And just to make sure that no spendocrat will be able to sleep for the next few months, the President has struck a ringing note of compassion for his squirming countrymen who, starting at this time every year, settle their accounts with the tax collectors.

DWIGHT EISENHOWER thinks it is highly important to let the U.S. taxpayer keep more of the money he earns. He thinks, private, individual enterprise is worth saving as a way of life. He says the preservation of America's secret of making money by letting the American people spend it on their own collective progress is just as important as the sterile contest to see who can pile up the biggest stack of armament without going broke.

This is an interesting insight into the state of the President, who is showing interesting signs of anti-inflationary leadership. There is no political future in it, because it would entail a touch of austerity, but perhaps Dwight Eisenhower like Charles de Gaulle has decided there are more important things than political futures when a man is making his last stand as a public figure.

If the presidential backbone stays this stiff, the spendocrats will have started to live their darkest hour, beginning with the budget debate of 1959. An American taxpayer can call some of his money his own.

Around and Around She Goes

If the Republican National Committee at its next meeting late this month hears a proposal to paint over its "big business" label, as has been reported in the New York Times, the ensuing discussion should be interesting.

The Republican party has been favored by business more than the Democratic party during this country's industrial growth since the Civil War because it has made a more persistent attempt to understand the nature and necessities of industrialism.

That is a matter of record and satisfaction. The United States did not get where it is today by going counter to the needs of industry and business; it nurtured them as conscientiously as it knew how. Its efforts gave Americans the world's highest standard of living.

There is nothing to be ashamed of, except in the minds of the enemies of capitalism, in having given capitalism a chance to prove what it can do for mankind. Every single boon that welfare-staters bestow on the politically grateful masses must be paid out of the current or past proceeds of capitalism. Socialism has been a scheme to equalize poverty, whereas capitalism has been a means of sharing in the production of wealth. Even the vaunted Communist regime in Russia has dumped the Marxist doctrine and used it these days only as bait to trap the politically gullible.

Every American who understands that politics is an endless merry-go-round could wish that the Republican party might have the courage to wait for the people's next upsurge of confidence in business leadership, instead of trying to chase after voters who are grabbing for the brass ring.

There has been recently in both Britain and France a massive return to the credo that government must stand firm for sound management principles; that socialism and politicalism betrayed the people by tempting them to forget the eternal verity that wealth must be earned before it can be spent.

There is nothing to apologize for in the reputation of being the political party that understands the problems of business and tries to keep capitalism healthy.

In the two-party system of a country that owes everything to the intelligent use of wealth to create greater wealth and thereby to relieve Americans of grinding poverty and endless toil, there should be one political party that understands capitalism as fully as the other party has been striving to understand socialism.

Encouraging Sign

The steadily-increasing number of Marion citizens filing for public office, and particularly for City Council, provide an encouraging note in the local governmental outlook.

This city has been beset by some troubles the last three years, principally continuing disagreements over major community improvements, but the arguments have had at least one important beneficial effect.

People are more aware of Marion's civic problems than they have been at any time for many years, and this interest is reflected in the contests that are being created for the primary election.

Serving in City Council is a real challenge and it is no picnic; all sideline critics and scoffers should try it themselves.

We hope the rush to take out petitions continues.

Castro Reforms Will Take Some Proving

The United States, reflecting the good will of its citizens, has wasted no time giving diplomatic recognition to the Urrutia regime in Cuba. Everybody is hoping for the best, Washington included.

Fidel Castro's revolution has materialized at long last in a sunburst of hope and reform — hope for constitutional government and a clean break with the U.S. gamblers who had been throwing their weight around in Cuban politics. Castro is supposed to have decreed that gambling must go.

A Cuban government without taint of corruption would be something to see. Any government without taint of corruption would be something to see, as far as that's concerned. But there has been a promise made and a policy published by the incoming regime of Cuba.

Perhaps it means no more than the promises and policies of other new Cuban governments. Corruption in Cuban politics was not invented by the Batistans, who came to power themselves during a reaction from brazen corruption. Perhaps they really meant what they said when they were new and fresh.

Undoubtedly, the men and women who lined up with Castro to overthrow the Batista regime mean it now when they promise clean constitutional government immediately and free elections within two years. The thing to watch will be signs of deteriorating purpose as time goes on and all the potential forces of corruption are exerted relentlessly.

Among them will be the gamblers who have thought of Cuba as a fruitful area for exploitation, U.S. gambling-style. If the Urrutia government and the Castro revolutionists can deal successfully with them, they have a chance to carry out their promises and policies for Cuba. But there is only one way to deal successfully with gamblers and gamblers, and that is to refuse to deal with them at all. That will not be easy in Cuba.

The Once Over

American lag in rockets is said by some to be due to too much bureaucracy, with its excess of letter writing. In most government bureaus nothing is done without writing a letter or answering an answer to the answer. Cut the correspondence and our moon rocket program would do okay.

We have scientists buried in Pentagon correspondence and engineers lost in file-and-forget systems. "In replying to my reply to your recent reply I wish to ask the view of your department on our more powerful thrust-motor, X-DK-105," one bureau writes.

It gets a reply, "Thanks for your letter with reference to change in our count-down system.

Please let me have your further thoughts on this, and what about nosecones?" This brings a note saying, "I agree with you completely in the matter of a larger launching pad."

By H. I. Phillips

NOW EVERYBODY is mixed up. The letters have gone to wrong bureaus and become mixed up with answers from agencies in deep confusion over the terrific burden of nonstop correspondence. Now some bureau that has not so far participated in any of the matters mentioned gets a letter:

Dear Sir: I do not understand your query about white mice. Are you referring to Canaveral, Nike Site 456, or the need for smarter lines and the choice of four colors in spaceships, none of which is in my department?

To this comes answer: Gentlemen: The confusion is going ahead rapidly. Treat it as top secret. We are all out of the plastic pushbuttons which you mention but can let you have a dozen automatic moon-rocket rudders, which your letter indicates would be satisfactory. Send no money. Just send another letter.

Tough Assignment

Unstable Dollars

The battle of the century has begun. How it turns out will affect the future of the American dollar for decades to come. On the way the die is cast in the next few months depends the purchasing power of the pay envelopes of millions of Americans.

Will the dollar remain stable or will it decline still further? Today the dollar is worth 48 cents in terms of what it was worth just 20 years ago — and if the forces of confiscation have their way, it could go down to 25 cents in another decade.

The whole world is watching to see what America does. It affects trade everywhere.

The battle against a stable dollar is being waged here right now under respectable auspices by men in Congress who scorn the label "radical" but who would commit the United States to expenditures far beyond the President's budget.

Already the American people are being told by the political partisans that a "balanced budget" means insecurity or indifference to the military safety of the country.

To play upon such fears, the devotees of the doctrine of spending evidently believe, is to get sanction for big appropriations—more billions for missiles or expeditions to the moon.

THE INSIDIOUS argument made is that the President gives too much weight to the balanced-budget idea and that he is neglecting "national defense." Will this campaign undermine the President's influence and open the floodgates in Congress so that billions more than he recommends will be appropriated even in the face of a 12-billion dollar deficit this year?

Mr. Eisenhower has been absorbed for months formulating the new budget. He has held lengthy conferences with our military leaders and with our economic experts. Honest, patriotic, experienced military men, without any political bias, helped to make the new budget. It was no casual decision by one man that led the President to announce that he believed the budget for the next fiscal year could be balanced.

What is the biggest single fact about our military position? The intercontinental missile is not yet perfected but the intermediate missile can be fired from bases in Europe close to Soviet Russia.

The truth is, moreover, the Soviet leaders know their country can be devastated in a matter of hours. Both sides know a "mutual deterrent" has come into being. There's a stalemate on the military side.

THE URGENT question now, therefore, is not the spending of unlimited amounts on military defense but giving more attention than ever before to economic defense.

As for those who say that military spending should be expanded, no matter what it costs, there is a simple test of sincerity. Would they support heavier taxes and—more important even than higher taxes—would they vote for governmental wage- and price controls?

Why, if the "cold war" is so hot, shouldn't American labor unions and business corporations be held in check so that the price of the same bomber that the government buys today will not be twice as much two years hence?

For that's what has happened in the last five years to push a large part of our defense budget upward.

President Eisenhower's well-reasoned "State of the Union" message was printed in full text only here and there in a few newspapers of the country.

HE WILL have to go on the television, again and again, and issue more and more written explanations of his policy to make real headway against his opponents. The critics get more space in the press and on the air than do the defenders.

What is needed now is confidence in the nation's chief executive — the very man who commanded the Allied armies in Europe just a few years ago, and whose integrity and lifetime devotion to the military security of his country ought not to be questioned.

Would Dwight Eisenhower ever fail to recommend any military proposal that was really needed? Would he neglect the defense of America?

Partisan-minded people and those members of Congress with a vested interest in currying favor in their home states and districts through more and more spending on defense factories and local facilities, which could mean bigger payrolls for their constituents, are demanding "more defense" and arousing fears about the nation's security.

Only an informed public opinion can win this crucial battle against bankruptcy. For this is what the battle of the century in Washington really means.

Outdoor Man

By Hal Boyle

THE look of Manhattan is changing rapidly now under the impetus of the greatest face-lifting program in municipal history.

Landmarks are being torn down and buildings are rising as the brisk winds of the present blow the dust of the past in the pedestrian's eye.

At lunch hour, the sites of the climbing new skyscrapers are surrounded by pale-skinned office peasants. They are fascinated by the sight of their fellow men earning a living by the sweat of their brow and the use of their hands under the open sky.

WATCHING a couple of steel workers nonchalantly stroll across a girder high overhead, one office peasant turned to a friend and said: "They are men. They are real men!"

In his voice was a mixture of admiration and wistful envy—a conscious expression of the realization that in the aristocracy of mankind the outdoor man has an edge over the indoor man.

The wife of the indoor man may feel that her husband is superior in some snobbish way to the rugged outdoor man, but the indoor man himself has no such illusion. He often feels his white collar is more of a badge of slavery than a symbol of success.

THE INDOOR MAN, caught in the gray drizzle of civilization, often finds it hard to see the importance of his work—whether he merely shuffles papers, sells neckties, arranges divorces, writes toothpaste ads, or answers the telephone for someone else above him in the office hierarchy.

He often has a trapped feeling. He has left nature too far behind. He can control his climate by turning a knob at home or at the office. Sometimes as he does this he can hear life whistling by in the wind outside his window. And he knows he is missing something.

THE GREATER creature comforts he enjoys do not compensate the indoor man for what he has lost. He neither sweats nor freezes at his job. He is usually just lukewarm—and he knows it.

The outdoor man realizes this fact, and as a result he always feels he has a clear and definite edge over the indoor man. The humblest hodgepinner cannot help looking down on a lawyer—that is, if he isn't in the lawyer's office.

Inside every indoor man, home-sick for nature, is an outdoor man yearning to be free. But only old age or enfeeblement will drive the outdoor man indoors, and he is never again as happy.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

By George Lichty

"While limiting debate would prevent us talking a bill to death, why should bills be shown more consideration than voters, gentlemen?"

Congressional Extras

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON
The sentimental gesture of the House toward Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts — after he was booted out of his job as Republican leader — may cost the taxpayers up to $40,000 a year.

Leaders in Congress cost money. The salary of the 74-year-old Martin, like that of any other senator or representative, is $22,500 a year. Congress voted itself that pay in 1955. It has also voted itself various kinds of expense money.

But as leader of the House Republicans, which he had been for 20 years, Martin got some extras: A Cadillac, a chauffeur, and about $26,000 more for office help than is allowed the ordinary congressman.

HE LOST those extras last week when his fellow Republicans — apparently because they thought he was slowing up — bounced him as their leader and replaced him with Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana. Halleck is 58.

The thought of Martin, with a reduced office staff and having to journey to work like an ordinary member of Congress, appeared too much for both Democrats and Republicans in the House. They voted Monday to give him back his extras.

Halleck, as the new Republican House leader, will, of course, also have a limousine, a chauffeur, and approximately $26,000 extra for additional office help.

BUT MARTIN and Halleck aren't the only Capitol leaders who get a car and chauffeur for themselves. Others who do are:

Vice President Nixon, House Speaker Sam Rayburn, House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack, House Clerk Ralph R. Roberts, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson, Republican Senate Leader Everett Dirksen, Senate Speaker Pro Tempore Carl Hayden, Senate secretary Felton Johnston, and Senate Sergeant-at-Arms Joseph C. Duke.

Vice President Nixon and Speaker Rayburn get a salary of $35,000 each, plus $10,000 for expenses. While Nixon, as vice president, gets $101,000 a year for office expenses, Rayburn gets $83,000.

An ordinary House member gets $35,000 for office help, if there are fewer than 500,000 people in his district, and $40,000 if there are more than 500,000 in his district. A House member also gets this extra expense money: $2,500 for office machinery like adding machines; free mailing privileges for ordinary letters; $400 for air mail and special delivery stamps; up to 3,000 minutes of long distance telephoning; 20,000 telegraph words free; $1,200 for stationery; plus $150 a month for the expense of having an office back in his home district.

THIS WRITER could not obtain a corresponding breakdown for members of the Senate on office expenses. A request for the information was turned down flatly at the Senate Appropriations Committee, at the Senate Disbursing Office, and by Senate Secretary Johnston. I was told this was pretty much of a secret.

A protest that "taxpayers' money was involved and they were entitled to the information got nowhere. Johnston is not a senator but a Senate employee.

But senators and representatives are allowed to deduct $3,000 a year from their $22,500 salary for personal living expenses because they have to maintain two homes: One here and one back in their own state.

Members of Congress can pay 7½ per cent of their salary into a pension fund. A member of either house who has served at least five years and reached age 62 can retire on a pension of $3,000 a year. One who has served 30 years can get a pension of $18,000.

Whatever benefits members of Congress get were voted by themselves. There has long been the argument that, in order to get the highest-type citizens to run for Congress, the pay should not be so low as to discourage their running.

THERE ARE some additional expenses connected with Congress now. The Senate, which has one office building for its 86 members, next month will open a new one costing about $25,000,000, which includes furniture. It has a two-level underground garage for 156 cars and will provide every senator with at least five rooms in his office. Senators now have three to four.

The House, which has two office buildings for its 436 members, in 1962 will have three. The new one will cost over 64 million dollars.

Room for Both

By Truman Twill

It always happens like this. You think you have an original idea, but someone else thought of it long ago.

The Cult of Resters that I thought was going to be my claim to fame and my meal ticket is not the first of its kind.

John C. Venier of Eastlake, Ohio, has been president of an outfit called the Take-It-Easy Club for 12 years and says the club has 50,000 members, including President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon, Bob Hope and other notables.

There is a difference, however, between his Take-It-Easy Club and my Cult of Resters. His is an organization of well-adjusted people who are dedicated to the proposition that the way to live long and like it is to take an easy-going attitude about their work.

My organization, on the other hand, is not for well-adjusted people. They need no help. My outfit makes its pitch to misfits who need help quick.

These people aren't looking for another club to join. They are desperate. They want to sign up with a cult and get quick relief. I had hoped to avoid getups, but the Cult of Resters will need a distinctive uniform. All of us are going to wear full-length bathrobes and bedroom slippers when we get this thing going.

This will advertise the message of our cult: Sleep on it. Our pictures will be in the papers. Take-It-Easy Venier, on the other hand, has played it serene and cool in a business suit. "The secret is learning to relax on the inside while looking after business on the outside," he explains.

That may be all right for him and his associates, but it is no good for us Resters. We aim to be loose while we work and relax while we rest—and we do not aim to mix one with the other.

All of us have been told by our doctors at one time or another that we take our work too seriously; that this is our problem.

But no matter how hard we try to be casual and relaxed on the job, we are pulled into nervous knots whenever we get buggered—and we no more can avoid being bugged than we can avoid buying chances on raffles for the benefit of volunteer fire departments.

People like us who cannot stay calm, cool and collected while working belong in the Cult of Resters, not in any Take-It-Easy Club. If we could take it easy, we'd have no problem.

And to avert confusion, we hereby restate the purpose of the Cult of Resters.

We urge our fellow men to behave more like the dog and less like the whirling dervish. The dog rests when he is tired. Our creed is that men should rest when they are tired, too.

We may never get 50,000 members, including President Eisenhower, but there's nothing wrong with our idea, even if John C. Venier of Eastlake did start a Take-It-Easy Club 12 years ago. There's room for the Cult of Resters, too.

News of Other Years

40 YEARS AGO — Winston S. Churchill was named secretary of war and secretary of the air ministry in the British cabinet.

Mrs. William C. Sharp, wife of the American ambassador to France, accepted the honorary presidency of the French provisional council of the American Young Women's Christian Association.

The lives of a woman and a child were claimed in a $50,000 fire which swept an apartment building in Lorain.

20 YEARS AGO — William Shimmel, 35, of Lima, was named professional golfer for the 1939 season at the Marion Country Club in an announcement made by Carl E. Danner, club president.

Fire of unknown origin swept through a railroad car south of Kenton and destroyed 110 sacks of mail. The train was en route from Toledo to Miami, Fla.

10 YEARS AGO — Delayed checks for thousands of Ohio's old age pensioners poured into the mail after being held two weeks.

Some 50,000 failed to be mailed because the new legislature, for the first time in a decade, took two weeks to appropriate the $5,777,000 necessary for January benefits.

The annual March of Dimes drive opened in Marion County to wage the fight against infantile paralysis which the year before struck down 39 adults and children in the county, bringing death to two.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: My little niece was abandoned by her mother and is now living with my brother and his second wife. The stepmother hates the little girl and makes no bones about it. My brother treats her son like his own but she does not reciprocate.

One day last winter the stepmother left this child on my doorstep at 6:30 in the morning. Apparently she had misbehaved. When I found her at the front door, she was almost frozen.

The child's home life is atrocious. My brother won't work and their house is a one-room shack. When I buy the child clothes which she needs badly, her stepmother takes them back and gets something for her son. This has happened so many times I refuse to buy anything more.

Is there something I can do, to get her away from his horrible life? The girl would be welcome in my home anytime. Please advise me.—ANXIOUS AUNT.

do—and I hope you won't waste another minute. Call the Child Welfare Bureau and ask them to investigate this situation.

If their inquiry supports your story, they will see that the little girl is taken out of the home and placed elsewhere.

Since you are an aunt and would like to have custody of the child, express these thoughts to the welfare agency and they will see that the case is turned over to the courts for review. Good luck.

Nothing To Lose

Dear Ann Landers: What can we do about neighbors who are so mean to our children that they make life miserable?

They have a rule that everything that goes over the fence on their property is THEIRS. In the past year, my kids have lost two footballs, a basketball, three handballs and a hoola hoop.

My husband and I are peace-loving people. We get along with everyone. These neighbors have children and we treat them nicely. Please tell us what to do. It's terrible living next door to people who act like this.—OTHER CHECKERS.

Dear Other Checkers: There's no point in coasting along. The situation will get worse, not better, in the absence of affirmative action.

I suggest you phone the neighbors and invite them over for a cup of coffee and a little discussion. It could be that there is some area of misunderstanding.

Perhaps your kids are doing more than you know about and the neighbors are punishing them.

You have nothing to lose and much to gain. If they are not willing to discuss the matter, then tell your children these people are unreasonable and to be especially careful to keep their belongings off the neighbor's property.

Life Of Riley

Dear Ann: What do you think of a guy like this? We have three children. I work all day in an office and make a modest salary. My husband collects $28 a week, unemployment compensation and gives me $15 to pay the baby-sitter. He spends the rest of it bumming around playing pinball machines and shooting dice.

When he comes home at night he flops on the sofa and demands dinner. I have to rush home from the office, straighten up the house and make a meal.

If I say one word about being tired he says "What from? You sit in an office all day." Sometimes I get so mad I'd like to knock his block off. Please tell me what to do.—TIRE D OF WEARING THE PANTS.

If you are "Tired Of Wearing The Pants" why don't you hand them to your husband and put on a house dress? He'll never go to work so long as you bring home the pork chops. Why should he?

Tell him you're quitting your job in two weeks and that he'd better line himself up employment at once. If he refuses, let him hang his hat with his pinball machine buddies.

Confidentially

TO PICKLE-PUSS: If he's "nutty as a fruit-cake" why didn't you give him the air and rouse to accept that fun stole? Looks as if you want to run with both the hare and the hounds. It won't work, Toots.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Marion Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

In a pre-Christmas ceremony Miss Mary Hendershott, formerly of Marion, became the bride of David P. Weigum in the chapel of First Methodist Church in Santa Ana, Calif. The wedding was an event of Dec. 13.

For her costume the bride chose a light blue lace dress with pink accessories.

More than a year ago she left Marion to make her home in Lodi, Calif. While here she was active in Epworth Methodist Church choir and in Wesleyan Service Guild. She is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hendershott and a sister of Mrs. Harold Crammer who resides in New Bloomington.

The Social Notebook

After the holiday vacation the Sesame Club resumed activities Monday afternoon at the Women's Club Home with Mrs. E. C. Garver as hostess and elected Mrs. J. E. Bonen as the new president.

Mrs. C. E. Gifford opened the meeting with words of a prayer by Louise Haskins and Mrs. G. O. VanSickle read Scripture from Mark and gave a meditation written by Edith Steketee followed by prayer.

For rollcall each member named a city in Africa. Mrs. John Clark gave a summary of projects submitted to the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs. Report on the state of officers was made by the nominating committee which was composed of Mrs. Glenmore Hawkins, Mrs. Garver, Mrs. Stewart Vermillion.

Serving with the president will be Mrs. J. P. Elchhorn, vice president; Mrs. J. W. Baker, recording secretary; Mrs. E. F. Studkey, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Fleta Hankel, treasurer; Miss Sophia Mack, Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Earl Miller, program committee, and Mrs. E. J. Andrews, Mrs. O. V. Roby and Miss Leona Taylor, nominating committee.

To begin a series of programs on "Our World Neighbors" Mrs. Baker reviewed the characteristics of African music from the time of the queen of Sheba. She said Africans have no knowledge of music but a basic rhythm and possess songs for every occasion. A paper on Africa was given by Mrs. B. W. VanMeter describing the climate and native life of the continent where 700 languages and dialects are spoken and a high degree of illiteracy exists. Greatest resource is power and there is great mineral wealth with production of 40 per cent of the world's gold and 95 per cent of diamonds. Adjustment between the white and colored races is the foremost social problem. Annual reading of the constitution and bylaws of the club concluded the meeting.

Mrs. Ed Fetter presided for the business meeting which followed a roll call of gifts received for Christmas.

Contest winners for the evening were Mrs. Fred Myers, Mrs. Harold Black and Mrs. Fetter. Mrs. Ada Rogers won a special prize.

A highlight of the meeting was a rummage sale among members. Mrs. Black assisted the hostess with refreshments.

It was announced that the next meeting will feature a cooking demonstration at the Ohio Edison Co. Members will meet first at the home of Mrs. William Flanagan at 547 Olney Ave.

A box social, with husbands as guests, has been scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 14, at 6:30 p.m. at the Bowers residence.

President Mrs. Gus Judy conducted the meeting of Eta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held Thursday at the home of Mrs. Roy Miller of 823 Bellefontaine Ave.

Sixteen members present voted a contribution to the Marion County Tuberculosis and Health Association and discussed a donation to the March of Dimes.

In other business they voted to accept a city council service project after hearing a report by Mrs. Judy. Another report was made by Mrs. Kenneth Belford.

Announcement was made of a "Mothers' Breakfast" at Hotel Marion, Jan. 31.

Names of secret sisters were drawn during the meeting, but will not be revealed until Christmas of this year.

Introducing the guest speaker, Miss Lula Harshfield, was Mrs. Belford. Miss Harshfield spoke on "The Printed Word and Your Life."

The prize for the evening went to Mrs. Roy Miller. Mrs. Ray Semmler was co-hostess for the refreshment hour.

Mrs. William Merriman of 851 Vernon Heights Blvd. will entertain the club for its Jan. 22 meeting. Mrs. Judy will be co-hostess.

Galion Traffic Unit Approves Parking Limit

Corners Near Alleys Affected; New Stop Sign To Be Erected
GALION — Off-street parking was a subject of discussion at the meeting of the Galion Traffic Commission Tuesday afternoon. It was the first meeting of the new year and also the first since the Safety Commission has been merged with the Traffic Commission. Three members of the Safety Commission now are members of the Traffic Commission. They are Mrs. Grace Thomas, Mrs. Paul Blasberg and Ross Ritchey. Mayor Edward H. Jones presided for the meeting when various traffic problems were discussed. It was decided that a stop sign will be placed for a trial period on Wood St. at S. East St. It also was decided to prohibit parking on main streets near where alleys come out on these streets. The driver approaching a main street from an alley often has his view obstructed by the parked cars, members said. E. Church St. between Market and Columbus streets where the north-south alley intersects will be affected by this ruling, it was decided.

Indicted in Death
PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Charles A. Stockham, 35-year-old chiropractor, has been indicted for first-degree murder in the strangulation of his mother, Mrs. Lucy Stockham, 66. Authorities said he choked her at her home at nearby Slocum Station Dec. 13 upon learning that she had his father committed to a mental institution.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSSBY

The Disenchantment

What happened in 1958?

I'll tell you what happened. The money quiz shows blew up in their owners' faces. "Anyone want to buy 10 unconnected dots?"

News papers ran an advertisement for a radio station booth. (Wall-to-wall carpeting, air-conditioned.) NBC in some desperation tried to run an honest quiz, "Brains and Brawn," only to discover honesty does not pay—at least in the quiz line.

The brains knew nothing at all and when music expert Deems Taylor couldn't recognize the voice of Enrico Caruso singing "La Donna e Mobile," the handwriting was clearly on the wall.

WHAT HAPPENED in 1958? The comedians all came back to a blaring of trumpets and clashing of cymbals—and took large pratfalls. Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca were reunited and that blew up instantly.

Jackie Gleason returned—and the show's off already. Milton Berle, Mr. Television himself, set only a small blaze. George Gobel's hour-long show was not renewed for next year.

The only large splash by a pair of comedies were the Canadian cut-ups, Wayne and Shuster, whose elaborate and literate humor won acclaim and suggested that there were no intellectual reaches beyond the TV audience.

Nineteen fifty-eight was a bad year for comedy and for quiz.

What was it good for? Well, conversation came back, for one thing. Maybe it was just a temporary phenomenon, but for a moment conversation flourished, as it hadn't since the days of the 18-century coffee houses, on David Susskind's show, on Ben Hecht's show, on Edward R. Murrow's "Small World," on Jack Paar's show, on Arthur Godfrey's morning show and on his evening show, on Fannie Hurst's show, on NBC's "The Open Mind."

SOME OF the celebrated talkers of the year were Gleason on the Godfrey show, Oscar Levant on the Paar show, Malcolm Muggeridge on the Murrow show.

Talk flamed about everything from homosexuality to the low state of the movie business. People who had forgotten how to talk watching television now said how nice it was on TV. This could lead to people taking up talk again and of course, turning the set off to do so.

It could but it hasn't. No yet, anyhow.

The talk shows had those great lost qualities that TV started with —spontaneously and unexpectedly.

RESIDES TALK, a couple of other things went big in 1958. It was a great year for dancers and drunks.

The first people to dance up a storm on TV were the Moseley dancers—and here I'm running the risk of being denounced editorially by The Saturday Evening Post—I thought they were great even though they hail from the Soviet Union.

Fred Astaire's show was one of the great ones of all time on television. It just goes to show what television can do when it half tries.

Gene Kelly, in another interesting dance show on "Omibus," proved with considerable brilliance and ingenuity that the dance was indeed a man's game. And the City Center repeated Tschalkowsky's "The Nutcracker," on "Playhouse 90" with George Balanchine's choreography—this time in color, which it urgently needs.

As for the drunks, they showed up on the best original drama of this slow season—J. P. Miller's "Days of the Wine and the Roses" and also on several not-so-new dramas like "Harvey," which was played beautifully by Art Carney, and "The Time of Your Life," with a warm leading portrayal by Jackie Gleason.

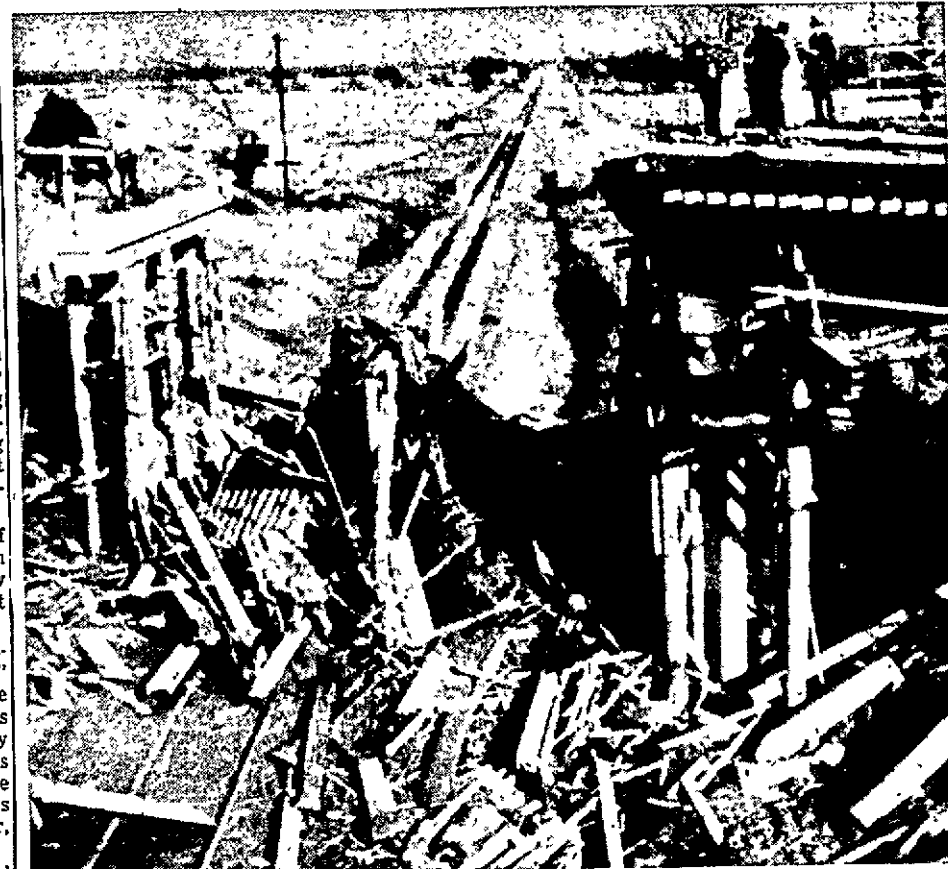

BESIDES DRINKING, one of the more popular subjects of the year was assassination. "Playhouse 90" dwelled heavily on the suggested assassination of Stalin, which shocked the Soviet Union into tossing out CBS' correspondent in Russia, and later doing a documentary style drama of the St. Valentine's Day underworld massacre.

It was a bad year for live drama. "Studio One" and "Kraft Theater," two of the oldest TV shows on the air with long, distinguished records in live drama, ended their runs.

"Studio One" was replaced with a filmed Desilu show which had none of the originality or drive of the old live "Studio One" shows. DuPont still clung to the live shows and did some good ones, including "Wuthering Heights," "The Winslow Boy" and "Count of Monte Cristo," but the suspicion grew that the organization was playing it awfully safe in its story departments.

"SEE IT NOW," one of TV's few really distinguished shows, went off the air because CBS said it couldn't afford it while managing to afford such milestones as "Beat the Clock."

One small bright spot was the emergence of jazz as a fairly regular visitor on television with the "Jazz Shows" and the Bobby Troup shows and the Art Linkletter Jazz party. Jazz seemed to BRIDGE COLLAPSES. The sole warning before this half-million-dollar span collapsed with a roar Tuesday near Memphis, Tenn., was a "pop." Tons of wood, steel and concrete debris fell to the railroad tracks below, carrying with it eight workmen, all of whom were injured and hospitalized. The men were dug out of the ruins which included almost 90 cubic yards of fresh concrete poured into bridge framework. (UPI Telephoto) be making a slight dent on the radio, too.

Skill, I think the year was best summed up by Abel Green in Variety who wrote:

"A national disenchantment has set in with television. Just as it was once fashionable to say I haven't seen a movie in years, people are now saying, 'I can't remember when I turned the set on last.'"

Individualism Growing

In India, Professor Says

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—A dramatic growth of individualism is taking place in Hindu society, Robert I. Crane, University of Michigan history professor, told the American Historical Assn. here.

While Americans take for granted the law's recognition of their individual rights, he said, "this view of life constitutes a fundamental revolution" in India's social, family, religious and economic system.

Real Estate Board To Sponsor Polio Benefit Dance Saturday

Members of the Marion Real Estate Board will sponsor a benefit dance Saturday to raise funds for the local March of Dimes campaign. The dance will be held at the Veterans Memorial Coliseum from 7:30 p.m. until midnight.

Admission tickets at 50 cents per person are on sale at all banks, savings and loan companies, schools and also may be purchased from any member of the Real Estate Board.

The new Marion Skyliners, under the direction of Marion Burton, have volunteered to provide entertainment for the affair. Square dance caller Larry Edwards will handle the square dance portion of the program. In addition, interim music will be provided by two smaller groups, Marion Burton's Combo and Johnny Kessler's Quartet.

Dance Chairman Joe Davis, partner in the Davis, Speese and Carroll Realty firm, is in charge of overall planning for the event, while A. W. Granger of Granger Realty Co. and Roy Holdridge of Douce and Co. are in charge of ticket sales in the city and county, respectively.

"The 110 men and women of the Real Estate Board are going all out to make this dance the most successful venture of the campaign," Mr. Davis said. "All we need now is the full cooperation of everyone in and around Marion and surrounding communities to give a real boost to the expanded program of the March of Dimes."

Members of the Real Estate Board and their wives will chaperone the dance, which is expected to draw attendance from all age groups.

All proceeds of the dance will be turned over to Joseph Casey, chairman of the local March of Dimes campaign, to continue the fight against polio and wage a new offensive against juvenile arthritis and birth defects.

Phone Company Toured by Local Engineers Group

A tour of the General Telephone Co. plant here highlighted the meeting of the Marion Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers Monday night.

Forrest Stroud, chief engineer of operations for General Telephone Co. of Ohio, opened the meeting at the company's S. Main St. office with a talk concerning the scope and organization of the firm.

He pointed out that the General Telephone Corp. is the second largest in the country, having more than 3 million customers in 31 states. Company offices are located in 70 of the 88 Ohio counties with expansion to new areas now in progress.

The speaker estimated that automatic long distance dialing service probably will be introduced in Marion during 1960.

Engineers divided into small groups to take a tour of the building. Among the installations visited were the local and long distance test boards, line relays and selectors, power equipment and the audiotape time-of-day service.

Refreshments and a brief business session followed the tour. It was announced that National Engineers Week will be observed here Feb. 22-28. Local activities will include a dinner meeting with science students from Harding and Marion Catholic high schools as guests. Jack Anderson of Battelle Institute in Columbus will speak on "Space Travel."

Union Election Dispute Erupts Into Fisticuffs

CINCINNATI (AP)—After a turbulent, fist-swinging meeting Tuesday night, Teamsters Union Local 100 still had its old officers, although the top two were arrested on disorderly conduct charges.

The meeting, called to ratify results of an election of officers, erupted when defeated President George P. Starling tried to adjourn it.

That's when the fisticuffs started and a 50-man police riot squad took over, squelching the disorder in about 15 minutes.

Ray Halderman, outgoing local vice president, filed a disorderly conduct warrant against Starling. Fred Dietschle, a union member, filed a similar charge against Halderman.

The election unseated all but one of the old officers, most of them boss James R. Hoffa. The election, challenged by defeated candidates, was upheld in Common Pleas Court.

Walter G. Schulz, who won the presidency in the election, said he moved to have the election ratified. It was seconded, he said, but Starling refused to entertain it, and instead recognized a later motion for adjournment.

Spends 7 Days in Dayton Chamber

Woman Outlasts Men in Space Tests

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—If Miss Zeina Arment proved anything by her long stay in a darkened isolation chamber, it might well be this:

Women may be better qualified than men to make flights into outer space.

Miss Arment, a 38-year-old civilian technician for the Air Force, did something last summer that no man has been able to do under test conditions.

She spent seven straight days in a dark, silent room; devoid of all contact with the outside world.

Four Extra Days

That's four days more than anyone else—man or woman—has been able to take.

The test was conducted at near- by Wright-Patterson Air Force Base. Details of the experiment, classified until now, were released Tuesday.

Asked why she believed she she could stand the test when others doubted that they could, Miss Arment replied:

"I feel like I'm a little more stable than men. I think a lot of women are.

"I think you'll find that when some big upheaval comes along, a man might have a nervous breakdown. A woman might have hysterics for a half-hour, but she'll get over it and take the thing in stride."

The Air Force used this isolation chamber at Wright Air Development Center for the experiment. The WADC's aeromedical laboratory, at Wright-Patterson, conducted the test.

No Light or Sounds

There is no light, no sounds from the outside when the door is shut. Just darkness.

"I couldn't see a thing," Miss Arment said Tuesday at Alamo-gordo, N. M., where she is on temporary duty at Holloman Air Force Base.

"Oh, yes, I got bored to an extent. I did a little writing. I wrote a diary. I used a finger of my left hand for a line to guide my right hand ... it ran some 30 pages."

What did she think of?

"The future. My work. What I'd like to do. My ambitions."

Her food supply in the refrigerator lasted almost the full seven days. She said she rationed herself on the cold meats, vegetables, sandwiches, juices, snacks, candy and dessert.

Her emotional and physical well-being were relayed to scientists outside the chamber by means of wires attached to her body that transmitted her every sensation.

Democrats Blast Administration Budget-Balancing Pledges

Fiscal Plans Hit, Termed Juggling Act

Talk of $100 Million Surplus Challenged in Senate and House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats assailed the administration budget-balancing pledges and tax cutting talk today as part of a fiscal juggling act they said is aimed at fooling the people.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, assistant Senate Democratic leader, challenged statements of Republican congressional leaders that the new budget will show a 100-million-dollar surplus and that tax cuts may be possible in two or three years. He said such claims won't hold water.

Say Estimates Too High

Mansfield and other Democrats contend President Eisenhower plans to balance a 77-billion-dollar budget by estimating revenues at a far higher level than they are likely to reach.

Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif.) said in a separate interview Congress will take a good look at what he said promises to be a "pipe dream" budget, to be submitted by Eisenhower next Monday.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said he is certain Congress is going to vote all of the funds it believes are needed for defense whether it balances the budget or not.

Answer Criticism

However, Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California, the assistant Republican leader, said the Democrats were jumping to conclusions without having the facts.

"Anybody who denounces the President's budget in advance of studying it in detail simply convicts himself of political demagoguery," Kuchel said. "If the budget isn't balanced it will be because the Democratic Congress doesn't vote to keep it in balance."

Detention Room at Home Dedicated

ROOM DEDICATED. Inspecting a plaque which will be placed on the door of the boy's detention room at the Children's Home are Howard McCurdy (left), president of the Children's Home Endowment Fund Inc. and Edwin Banning, chairman of the Marion County Child Welfare Board.

The two participated in dedication of the converted facility Tuesday night at the Children's Home. The dedication was held in connection with the annual meeting of the home's endowment fund members. Cost of the project financed by the endowment fund was $3,882. The general contractor was J. W. Weaver of Marion. The new center was converted from a storeroom. James Painter, superintendent of the Children's Home, reported that the former boys' detention room will be made into a detention area for girls. Work already has started on this project, he said. The present girls' detention room will be used as a receiving center for dependent and neglected children, thus separating them from the delinquents.

During the endowment fund meeting, trustees were nominated and a ballot was prepared for mailing to the membership. The election results will be announced in February. A committee was appointed to investigate the possibility of making slides to depict the work of the Child Welfare Board at the home.

State Official Speaks

Better Schools Possible, Extension Group Is Told

"You can get nothing finer for your community than an improved educational program for your children."

So said M. Byron Morton, assistant superintendent of public instruction of the Ohio State Department of Education, in a talk Tuesday night to approximately 100 persons attending the annual meeting of the Marion County Agricultural Extension Service in the LaRue School.

Mr. Morton, speaking on the subject, "A Curriculum to Fit the Needs of the Modern Youth," noted that school boards across the state are faced with two big problems today providing a good curriculum and finding the funds necessary to improve current educational programs.

HE POINTED out that the move away from the small school concept towards consolidation has been brought about by the necessity for local districts to establish programs that will enable their schools to comply with state standards.

The speaker asserted that current standards were established by a citizens committee back in 1954. That committee found, through its studies, that high schools with a pupil enrollment of under 240 simply could not be operated efficiently. Thus the state board has frowned on schools operating with less than that number and has taken steps to cut down on state foundation money given those smaller institutions.

He noted that it is "virtually impossible" to find anything approaching a complete curriculum in the small high schools of the state. The small school setup, he observed, often results in a system of high, middle and low ability students, with not enough teachers to provide for the extra help needed by the ones in the low bracket, or to challenge the ones at the top of the list.

Referring to the survey presently being discussed in Marion County relative to establishing a one-district school system, Mr. Morton said the survey was of particular value since it had been conducted by "competent persons" who were absolutely unbiased. (The work was done by the Ohio State University Bureau of Educational Research.)

"ALWAYS REMEMBER," he emphasized, "that no move towards consolidation can be made without your approval. But, remember too, that a good plan can be wrecked by those who would let personalities take precedence over logical fact," he added.

"You can get an improved program for education in this county if you want to," Mr. Morton told his audience, adding: "School sites and many other incidents are of little importance or significance to the youngsters who want and need better education."

Mr. Morton was introduced by Robert Jones of the extension advisory committee, who served as master of ceremonies.

Prior to the educator's talk, reports on extension activities for 1958, together with an outlook for this year, were given by Ellwood Parrott, John Nicholson and Miss Gussie Smith.

Mrs. Edwin Carey reported on the nominating committee's selections for five directorships and at meeting's end the following persons were named for three year terms: Don Loudenslager, Big Island Township; Dwight Heckathorn, Grand; Mrs. Howard Click, Marion; Franklin Gerfen, Prospect; and Larry Duprey, Scott, who completed an unexpired term of another director in 1958.

Tax Collection To Start Thursday

County Treasurer Marion E. Hinklin said he intends to mail out some 13,000 tax statements to property owners today and that collection of real estate taxes for the last half of 1958 will begin Thursday.

Deadline for payment of the taxes and special assessments is March 1, the treasurer said. Property owners may pay taxes for an entire year simply by doubling the amount specified on their statements, he said.

Mr. Hinklin said his office will operate on its normal schedule until Feb. 1. After that date the office will be open during the noon hour, he said.

Hunt for Boy's Body Is Halted By New Slide

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A fourth landslide has ended the search for the body of a 16-year-old boy who was buried by tons of mud and rock on a beach near Golden Gate Bridge.

The attempt to recover the body of Bill Soltero, entombed Monday while on a hike with his girl, was abandoned Tuesday night.

"There's no sense in going any further with it," said Fire Chief William Murray after a new slide almost drove searchers into the Pacific.

Soltero, a high school student, was buried as he and Margaret Valentine, 15, were hiking upward after leaving China Beach.

They saw the slide coming with only an instant's warning. He jumped to the right and she jumped to the left.

The girl extricated herself from the muck and clambered 350 feet to the top of the cliff, despite bruises and deep cuts.

Airline Profit Sharing Plans Being Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government called on the nation's six biggest airlines today to justify their agreement to share profits when one is shut down by a labor strike.

The Civil Aeronautics Board convened a special hearing to get arguments pro and con on the plan. The airlines exchanged 3 1/2 million dollars under the plan through November as a result of strikes. December figures have not yet been announced.

Signatories to the plan are Eastern, American, United, Capital, Trans World and Pan American.

Guy Farmer, former chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, was set to argue in behalf of the airlines that the pact will tend to present a solid industry stand against airline strikes and thus tend to discourage such shutdowns.

Airline labor unions prepared to ask the CBA to cancel the pact as illegal under air transport and antitrust laws.

Cuba

porters also were invited to cover the trials.

Earlier Tuesday Castro had defended the executions as "necessary to purify the nation." And Foreign Minister Roberto Agramonte said that unless the new regime meted out "fast justice," the public would take the law into its own hands to avenge the torture and murder of an estimated 20,000 Cubans by Batista police and soldiers.

Trials already had been suspended in Santiago, capital of Oriente province, where Castro's movement and Batista's repression were centered.

More than half the reported executions have occurred in 71 centers, including the shooting of 71 persons in two batches early Monday, which the spokesman confirmed.

Reports of the executions aroused strong protests in the United States. One especially noted in Havana was made by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) in the Senate Monday. He called the executions blood baths that were not the way for the new regime to win free world support.

The average Cuban appeared to approve the killings, however, and revolutionary leaders at first defended their course.

Close Courthouse Saturdays? Feelings on Plan Mixed Here

Two bills introduced in the legislature Tuesday brought comments today from a number of Marion County officials.

A proposal to give county commissioners and judges the authority to shut down Courthouse operations on Saturdays was met with mixed feelings here.

The commissioners said they have not given the proposal much thought but felt that Saturday closing definitely would be considered if the bill is approved. Days for closing the Courthouse currently are regulated through a vote of elected county officials.

'Would Be Mistake'

County Recorder Arthur L. Watt said he thinks "it would be a political mistake" to start closing the Courthouse on Saturdays because of the volume of business handled by some offices Saturday mornings.

He said Saturday morning generally is one of the busiest during the week in his office because of the number of rural residents who pick that day to conduct business in town.

Similar sentiments were expressed by County Auditor Maurice C. Clements, whose office also handles a fair volume of business Saturday mornings.

Hinklin Favors Idea

Clerk of Courts Margaret Howser said she would go along with whatever was decided locally and had no other comment. County Treasurer Marion E. Hinklin has supported the Saturday closing idea for some time, he said.

The other proposal affecting offices here is a county fee bill similar to one which was vetoed by Gov. C. William O'Neill after passage by the legislature in 1957. The Ohio House passed the bill over the veto but the Senate did not reconsider it.

Mr. Watt, who as a member of the Ohio County Officials Association executive committee has been active in promoting the measure, figured the bill would have increased by some $3,000 the revenue from his office last year.

"This office should operate within $500 to $700 of its normal revenue," he said.

Four accidents, one a hit-skip, were investigated Tuesday by city police. The hit-skip occurred at 8:30 p.m. when a car owned by Herbert Caldwell of near Garrison, Ky., parked in the 100 block of Lincoln Ave., was struck by an unidentified vehicle.

The other three accidents caused damage estimated by police at less than $100 each.

Faces Fraud Charge

Charles R. Hattery, 33, of 466 N. Grand Ave. was ordered held for the grand jury today after pleading guilty in Municipal Court to a charge of fraud. Judge W. Dexter Hazen set his bond at $1,000.

He was arrested at 3 p.m. Tuesday by sheriff's deputies on a Municipal Court warrant. He was accused in an affidavit signed by E. F. Adams of the Marion Auto Trim Shop of converting to his own use a check for $59.92.

Ike Answers Reporters on Live Telecast

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower goes on live television and radio coast-to-coast today to answer reporters' questions. "But don't look for more such broadcasts," he said.

At least, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty says the President has no plans to permit live TV and radio coverage of his regular news conferences.

The scheduled session with newsmen today is outside the usual pattern. The President arranged to go to a National Press Club luncheon, make a brief informal talk, and then answer written questions submitted by reporters. Use of written questions is the Press Club practice.

The NBC and CBS TV and radio networks and the ABC and Mutual Radio System have booked live coverage starting at 1 p.m. EST.

chairman of the board, replied that before the board can develop a program of park improvements it must have more money. He said that after salaries, utilities and other fixed costs are paid, the board has only about $2,000 a year for park improvements. "You can't do much with $2,000," he said.

The appropriations ordinance transferred $12,000 from the general fund to the park fund but the actual appropriation from the park fund was $11,000 with $5,500 of this for labor and $4,500 for incidentals including utilities, equipment costs and operation and other fixed costs. The board has two permanent employees.

Mayor Strong said he felt the park board did a good job last year "considering what they had to work with." He complimented it also for taking good care of its equipment.

People Want Delaware Quarry To Be Closed

The quarry has been the object of several court actions since it was opened last spring to provide stone for the Ohio Freeway. The petitioners in the latest action claim that the quarry has been operated day and night interfering with their sleep and the peace and quiet of the area, and the blasting at the quarry as well as falling rocks have caused damage to their properties.

Operations at the quarry have been suspended for the winter, but are expected to resume in the spring. The quarry is operated by a Columbus firm and a Delaware firm.

Meany Contacts Rayburn

Top Union Leaders Bid For Hand in Labor Law

By VICTOR RIESEL

I am about to reveal one man's secret—and I hope he will forgive me. But there is a new artist among us who paints strong, colorful landscapes to escape the tumult and tensions of the day. And tense, if a packed day they are, for the artist is Mr. Labor himself, George Meany.

My scouts report he does most of his oil and brush work late at night. He has little time for painting in a day filled with problems ranging from telling off Anastas Mikoyan and Jim Hoffa to administering the intricate affairs of the world's most influential labor movement.

So it surprised many observers last Monday to note that the daylight-burning Mr. Meany tore himself away from his national headquarters across from the White House.

He rode through heavy traffic away across town to Congress for a mere 15-minute talk with the boss of the House, Speaker Sam Rayburn, who can push laws through Congress mighty fast—if he wishes.

MR. MEANY COULD have saved himself a much needed hour simply by getting "Mr. Sam" on his private phone. Yet the leader of American labor joined his congressional lobbyist, former Congressman Andy Biemiller, in a personal visit.

They could have left unseen by other doors but they stayed as correspondents crowded in to interview Mr. Rayburn on the new session. "Mr. Sam" said that the unprecedented visit sprang from the fact that Mr. Meany wanted a "good, strong" anti-rackets law. Mr. Meany's physical presence was obvious corroboration of Mr. Rayburn's sudden attention to labor bills in the hours before the congressmen themselves had begun trying their new offices for size.

Why all this maneuvering? The answer is in the strategy devised at a meeting of a special four-man AFL-CIO steering committee appointed by labor's high command to meet head-on the whole problem of racketeering before it tore labor apart.

The four-man group—Meany, Walter Reuther, George Harrison and Al Hayes—met last on Dec. 16.

The report is they decided to tell their political partners that they wanted an anti-rackets bill brought up and pushed through early in the session. They wanted a law on the books. Then it would be up to the authorities to prosecute.

Once the law is there for all to see, the labor leaders plan to tell the McClellan committee to fold its tentacles and probes and silently go away.

The labor leaders feel they just can't take another full year of scandal tainted headlines. True, most of the exposures ripped the lid off Teamster locals but the public wasn't exactly reading it that way.

THE STORIES of the looting of treasuries and multi-billion dollar welfare funds hit the headlines with punching bag rhythm. For more than two years now, there has been no union organizing. For more than two years crime has replaced virtually all else as conversation pieces and conference agenda inside labor.

Like all strategies, this one has some fuzzy details because the other side has some ideas of its own. The other side is not exactly inconsequential. Facing the president of the AFL-CIO is the President of the U.S.

Mr. Eisenhower is keen on this one. As the President's opinions are translated by his labor aide de camp, Jim Mitchell, they add up to three big differences with organized labor—meaning there will be one big fight in Congress.

First, the President wants a very detailed system of union financial accounting of all funds written into the new laws.

Furthermore, the President wants his secretary of labor to have governmental subpoena power to demand such an accounting and to back up the right to examine all books. Labor will fight this.

Secondly, the White House wants a law forbidding more than racketeering. The administration wants a bill which would cut the power of unions, such as the Teamsters, by banning the use of organizational pickets in front of plants in which they have no members.

And thirdly, the White House wants to wipe out the secondary boycott—which punishes a firm doing business with a truck firm. When you hear the noise, you can bet this is what they'll be battling over for months. (Hall Syndicate)

Adds Scholarship

CLEVELAND (AP)—A second scholarship worth $10,000 is being supplied by Tappan Co. of Mansfield, Ohio, at Case Institute of Technology, the school announced today. The scholarship will go to a high school graduate of Richland County, or a dependent of a Tappan Co. employee. Last year the company provided a scholarship which Case awarded to Allan Lee Lutz, a Shelby High School graduate.

Pact Reached In Long Strike At Harvester

CHICAGO (AP)—International Harvester Co. and the United Auto Workers union' early today reached an agreement on a new three-year contract for 37,000 employees who have been on strike for two months.

Spokesmen for the company and union announced the agreement after a lengthy session that extended into the early morning hours.

The agreement, if ratified by UAW local Harvester councils at a meeting Friday, would end the strike, which has forced the shutdown of 15 Harvester plants, 7 parts depots and 3 transfer points. Ratification by the workers would result in resumption of operations by Monday, a company spokesman said.

The principal gains in the new contract, the spokesman said, were an annual pay increase of 6 cents an hour or 2 1/2 per cent, whichever is greater, and the length of the new pact—three years.

Wages under the old contract averaged $2.55 an hour.

Hits Loyalty Oath

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—The faculty of Oberlin College is sending to Congress a resolution protesting a loyalty oath in the current federal program of loans for college scholarships. In its monthly meeting Tuesday, the faculty adopted a resolution saying the requirement "singles out persons in education as objects of suspicion." On Monday, the Oberlin Student Council had issued a protest.

Resignation by Blaik Stuns West Point Officials

Army Coach Quits In Surprise Move

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Army today began the long quest for a new football coach and athletic director while failing to throw a clue on the mystery of why a coach on top of the world should abruptly quit.

Earl (Red) Blaik, fresh from an undefeated season and the toast of the coaching set for his "lonely end" offense last year, resigned Tuesday, effective Feb. 15, his 62nd birthday, after 18 years with Army.

His only reason: "This is the proper time to withdraw from college sports, as to overstay a coaching career is unthinkable."

Caught Flatfooted

To a man, Army brass said they were caught completely flatfooted. One high West Point officer said "We were so surprised that we have no one in mind. We're wide open for all applications."

There are several theories about Blaik's resignation.

It has been said he has a bad stomach and the steadily increasing pressures of the game are getting to be too much. It has also been said he was at the end of his rope trying to convince the brass Army should play post-season bowl games and thus gain additional prestige. And it has been said he wanted to be able to have prospective players tutored before taking the entrance examinations just as Navy has been doing.

The last two offer the most logical reasons. At the end of last season, when Army compiled a record of eight victories, no defeats and one tie, the Cadets were certain bowl timber. But the policy of higher ups was against it.

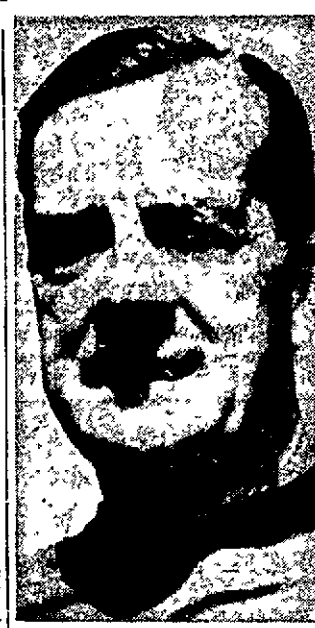

Approved by NCAA

As for the tutoring of players before entrance, the NCAA acknowledged last week that the service academies had special problems and therefore could see no harm in the tutoring. It is possible Blaik pointed this out to the brass, got a turnaround and decided to call it quits.

Moore Meets Bassey

LONDON (AP) — World Featherweight Champion Hogan Bassey of Liverpool will defend his title against Davey Moore in Los Angeles March 18, promoter George Farnass said today.

The original date was Feb. 25 but the illness of one of Bassey's managers caused the postponement.

EARL (RED) BLAIK
Leaves Army Grid Position

leaving the Academy, and pointing out the strong position of Army sports, Blaik said:

"At the present time, there is no personal commitment to any future plan, though within a reasonable time I shall accept one of several opportunities either in television or business. Right now, Mrs. Blaik and I are going to take a short vacation."

Court Okays Dodgers' Plan For Ball Park

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Dodgers are going to break ground within a month on their new baseball stadium in Chavez Ravine.

The State Supreme Court gave the go ahead to owner Walter O'Malley Tuesday when it unanimously ruled his contract with the city of Los Angeles for the Chavez Ravine site is valid.

O'Malley called the decision "the first shout of the season." The high court's ruling was in a taxpayer's suit brought by attorney Phil Silver. His suit challenged the transfer of the land to the Dodgers because a clause in the deed by which the city obtained the property from the federal government stipulated it be used for public purposes.

Silver said he will appeal to the United States Supreme Court for a review, but he admitted the highest court might not entertain his petition on the ground it does not have jurisdiction.

"If the U. S. Supreme Court turns me down for a hearing, then I guess O'Malley has won and can build in Chavez Ravine," said Silver.

City Atty. Roger Arnebergh said he can envision nothing that would block plans for the stadium now. He said the Dodgers can petition now to have the property rezoned.

Hayes Pays Tribute to Larson, Team

OSU Grid Mentor High in Praise Of Middleton

"He is as good an end product as any that has come out of Ohio in recent years."

That was Woody Hayes' description of Harding High School's Bob Middleton Tuesday night as he addressed an appreciation banquet honoring Coach Gordon Larson and the undefeated, unified Harding grid squad.

"I think he measures up with the best of them," the Ohio State University head grid coach said of the Harding star who was named Ohio's outstanding high school lineman during the past season. Hayes expressed a definite desire to have Middleton enroll at OSU and told of watching him play basketball last week at Worthington.

"I LIKE HIS POISE," Hayes said. He praised the Harding ace's conduct on what he termed questionable calls during a losing basketball effort. "I want an athlete with poise," the Buckeye coach said. "He went right to the wire without losing his self control."

The OSU grid coach spoke before 635 persons attending the banquet, sponsored by the Marion Lions Club as a testimonial to Larson and his state championship football squad.

Larson, the guest of honor, called the banquet a "wonderful event," saying the attendance typified the "wonderful community support" given the Harding grid squad. He introduced his assistant coaches and presented individual trophies, awarded by the Marion County Automobile Dealers Association, to members of his squad.

L. H. Larsen, Lions Club president, presented Larson a plaque designating him as Ohio's high school coach of the year. The plaque will bear the names of his aides, the players and the score of each of Harding's nine football games last fall.

Despite the unbeaten record of the 1958 season, Larson and his aides are not satisfied. "We have a tremendous job ahead of us," Larson said. "But we plan to tighten our belts and tackle it."

THE PRIZE COACH feels Marion still is a long way from its attendance potential. "We are not going to be satisfied until we see a crowd of 10,000 in that stadium," he said. "It's a tough task but we are going to do everything in our power to get the job done."

Hayes, introduced by E. L. Mitchell, Marion attorney who is a member of Ohio State's Front Liners, praised Larson as a great coach and cited the influence he holds over Marion's youth.

He cited the coaching staff and the administrative leaders of the local school system as the two top ingredients for a successful football program.

"Your tradition here is just a little young yet," he told Larson. "Here in your community football plays a great role," he told his listeners. But he added that role was attained only through "dogged hard work."

"Some of it wasn't fun," he said. "The fun comes in winning. The amount you put into it is the amount you will get out of it."

"It's almost impossible to give anyone anything worthwhile," Hayes said. "You give them the opportunity but then it is up to the individual to earn the results."

Hayes also rapped those people who insist athletics are overemphasized. He accused them of praising mediocrity. "Anyone willing to do less than his best in sports is a cheat," he said. He described winning as the "epitome of group action."

JERRY HARBIN and Bob Lister, former Harding grid stars now at Ohio State, were introduced along with Paul Ludwig and Jack Stephenson, captain of the 1941 OSU grid squad.

The Buckeye coach indicated both Harbin and Lister figure prominently in his future plans. Of Harbin, Hayes said "I think he is going to be a good one. He is better than I thought."

Lister, following a pre-ministerial course, may see action as the Bucks' quarterback, Hayes indicated. "We are proud to have him as a member of our squad," he said, telling the Marion fans that Lister played an important role last year in helping the Bucks prepare for the Wisconsin and Iowa games. Lister served as the opposing quarterback during drills for both those games and according to Hayes "he helped us a lot."

Robert T. Mason acted as master of ceremonies for the program and the invocation was given by Ivan Barnhart.

Members of the Harding band also were guests at the dinner. T. I. Martin served as general chairman for the event.

Magnetic Clips LaRue 71-45 In Cage Fray

LaRue was handed his 10th cage loss of the season Tuesday night by Magnetic Springs, 71-45.

The Resorters of Magnetic Springs, playing host to Coach Ed Roseberry's lads, had little difficulty picking up the win. They led 13-6 at quarter's end and were out front 33-14 at the half.

Although the Indians stepped up their attack in the third period to gain five points on the leaders, they trailed 44-30 going into the final frame to clinch the victory.

Ron Coder was high point man for the winners with 20 markers, while Jeff Greenwood led the LaRue crew with 14.

LaRue had a 41 per cent shooting average from the free throw line on 5 of 12 attempts. Magnetic's percentage from the charity line was 55. They netted 11 of 20 free tosses.

LaRue's reserve cagers won 41-38, with Roger England scoring 15 points. Cunningham led the Resorters' with 15.

Merrie Annabelle Named Ohio Harness Horse of '58

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Merrie Annabelle, two-year-old trotting filly owned by Byron D. Kuth of Chesterland, today was named Ohio's "harness horse of the year."

Merrie Annabelle raced to a two-minute mile at Lexington, Ky., early in October, but three days later was injured in a training accident and died late in 1958.

The speedy filly, trained by John Patterson, won 13 of her 23 starts, including her record-setting victory in the Hanover Filly Stake. She earned $39,181 for the year, and was national champion for her age and gait on both mile and half-mile tracks.

She was elected in statewide balloting, results of which were announced at the annual meeting of the State Division of the U.S. Trotting Assn.

Second in the voting was Senator Frost, owned by Wayne Galvin of Wilmington and Ray Foster of Lima. The three-year-old gelding, trained by Dick Buxton, trotted to a world mark of 1:59 and earned $43,834. Steamlin' Demon, double-gaited 5-year-old owned by George Van Camp of Circleville, was third.

Youthful driver Eddie Wheeler of Troy, who won 103 dashes and $201,746 in purses last year, was awarded a trophy for leading the state in both departments.

Holmes-Liberty Squad Sinks New Washington

NEW WASHINGTON — Holmes-Liberty, playing a cage action on the New Washington boards Tuesday night, won its seventh game in 10 starts by downing its hosts 53-37.

The Pirates, in fourth place in NOL standings with a 7-3 mark, led 17-10 at the quarter, had a 26-18 advantage at intermission and a 33-24 three-quarter margin.

Jerry Schiefer and Larry Young paced the Pirate attack with 20 of 13 points respectively. Ron Ackerman rolled in 18 for New Washington.

The battle between the reserve crews went to New Washington's frosh by a 37-36 tally.

Since football began at the University of Alabama in 1892 the Crimson Tide has had seven unbeaten seasons.

School Head Speaks

Firing of Brennan Studied Carefully

CHICAGO (AP) — Terry Brennan's dismissal as head football coach does not mean that Notre Dame is turning into a football factory, says Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, university president.

In a copyrighted article appearing in a national magazine, Father Hesburgh defended the school's action in firing Brennan and hiring Joe Kuharich as a change for the better.

He called the move a "commitment to excellence, and the judgment that the performance would be bettered by the change."

Apparently rked over publicity given the matter, Father Hesburgh said:

"While I can appreciate the wide national interest in sports, I think it somewhat of an inversion of values that a university can appoint 20 distinguished professors, make broad and significant changes in academic personnel to achieve greater excellence, without attracting more than a slight ripple of attention."

"But let the same university make a well-considered change in athletic personnel for the same reason, and it sparks the ill-considered charge that it is no longer a first-rate academic institution and must henceforth be considered a football factory."

The recommendation to fire Brennan, said Father Hesburgh, was "made unanimously by the faculty board in control of athletics at its regular December meeting. The director of athletics

(Moose Krause), while he does not have a vote in these matters, did agree with their recommendation. "I studied their reasons, discussed them with some trusted counselors here and made my decision on the same basis that I would decide any change in university personnel."

Irish Juniors Record 37-32 Cage Victory

Marion Catholic's junior high school cage squad spurred into an early lead and was never headed Tuesday in sinking Elm Valley's juniors by a 37-32 count.

Coach Max Ross' charges built up a 14-4 lead in the first stanza and led 24-12 at the half. They saw their lead sliced to 27-23 in third quarter play but killed off the losers' closing threat.

Fran Voll was the big gun for Marion with 11 points and Don Sherer added 10. Anderson with 14 was high for the losers.

The seventh and eighth grade squad from St. Mary dropped a 33-23 preliminary verdict. Bob Anderson scored 22 of the Irish points. Carper was high for Elm Valley with 10.

The Irish dropped a 22-19 verdict to Cardington Monday night after taking a double overtime victory from Ridgedale last week by a 33-31 count.

Pleasant will visit the Marion Catholic floor Thursday for two games beginning at 6 p.m.

Bradley Falls In 79-66 Duel To Louisville

By The Associated Press

The University of Louisville has been going down the college basketball ladder steadily since putting together a 21-5 mark two years ago. But once in a while the Cardinals spring a surprise.

Tuesday night was a case in point, when they beat seventh-ranked Bradley 79-66.

And it was a comparatively easy victory, too. Bradley trailed by four points at the intermission, eight shortly after halftime and by four again a few minutes later.

But then Louisville's John Turner and Roger Tieman began connecting with long set shots from the side and the Cardinals pulled away. Tieman led the scoring with 20 points.

West Virginia was the only other team among the top 10 to see action and the 10th-rated Mountaineers came through handsomely by trimming William and Mary 88-76 for their 42nd consecutive Southern Conference victory.

The Mountaineers, seeking their fifth straight conference title, put their league record for the season at 6-0.

In another Southern Conference tilt, George Washington defeated Richmond 72-64.

In the Southwest Conference, Texas Christian increased its lead to two games by defeating Rice 59-52, Texas Tech whipped Texas 64-47 and Baylor upset Southern Methodist 70-53.

Dartmouth took a 74-56 Ivy League victory over Harvard and Duke edged Clemson 45-41 in a tight Atlantic Coast Conference tussle.

Marquette blasted Valparaiso 96-74 for its 11th consecutive success. DePaul handed Notre Dame its ninth defeat in 13 games, 69-66. Virginia snapped a seven-game losing streak by rolling over Washington and Lee 89-46.

In tonight's most important game, top-ranked North Carolina State faces fourth-rated North Carolina. Other contests pit Xavier of Ohio at Dayton, South Carolina at Wake Forest and Yale at Army.

OSU Cage Coach Will Address Kiwanis Club, Local Players

Fred Taylor, head basketball coach at Ohio State University will be speaker at the Thursday luncheon meeting of the Marion Kiwanis Club.

Special guests of the club will be coaches and members of the basketball squads at Harding and Marion Catholic high schools.

Taylor is in his first year as head coach at OSU after succeeding Floyd Stahl. He moved up to the varsity job after serving as freshman cage coach since 1953. A 1942 graduate of Zanesville High School, the Buckeye coach was a member of the OSU varsity in 1948, 1949 and 1950. He helped spark the Bucks to a 22-4 record in 1950. They lost by one point 66-65 to CCNY in the 'NCAA' playoffs. The winners went on to capture the national crown. Taylor won All-American honors as a member of the OSU baseball team during his senior year.

Following his graduation from

Ohio State, Taylor was signed to a contract with the Washington Senators baseball team and worked his way up to Triple A ball, playing with Charleston. He was a power hitter but turned his back on a diamond career to accept the freshman coaching post at OSU.

The speaker will be introduced by Joseph W. Galloway, Kiwanis program chairman for the day.

Mount Zion, Tiro Take 85-41, 75-61 Cage Wins

Ralph Faust hit 24 points for the visitors. Vern Noggle posted 23 for good measure.

In another Crawford County cage action, Tiro, now 5-7, handed Wheelstone its 13th straight defeat this season by a 75-51 tally. High for Tiro was Glen Bruce, who grabbed off 27 rebounds and poured 24 points through Wheelstone hoops.

Galion Bested By Mansfield Cagers 53-45

MANSFIELD — Mansfield Senior High's Tygers tangled with the Galion Tigers Tuesday night and edged the visitors 53-45.

It was the fourth win for Mansfield against five losses. Galion is now 1-4.

Galion's Jim Blosser popped in a total of 16 points to lead the Tiger attack, while Fred Lehr was high man for the Tygers with 21.

Mansfield held only a two point edge at 12:10 when the first period ended, then led 27-22 at the half. The Tygers had a 43-30 lead at the three-quarter mark.

An interesting sidelight of the game is that Galion's Coach Carroll Kent is Mansfield pilot Vern Hoffman's son-in-law. Hoffman is in his 20th year at the helm of Mansfield's hardcourt ship of state.

In reserve action, Mansfield downed the Galion Jaynees 39-32. Al Dyer led the Galionites with 8 points, with Barry Hawkins posting 12 for Mansfield.

Quinn To Get Pay Raise in Phillies' Post

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The only thing that eluded John Quinn in his 14 years as general manager of the Milwaukee Braves was a promotion.

Tuesday, after twice being passed over when bigger, better paying jobs became available in the Braves' front office, Quinn bolted to the Phillies at a healthy increase in salary.

His title will be the same as it was with the Braves—vice president and general manager. His pay will jump from $22,500 to around $35,000.

Quinn termed the change "the biggest decision I ever made in my life."

Before Quinn took the Braves in 1945, they hadn't won a National League pennant in 31 years and hadn't finished in the first division in 10.

Under his able direction, the Braves won a world championship, three NL pennants and finished in the first division 12 times. They also developed a farm system second to none.

The resignation of the rail-thin, 50-year-old Boston Irishman with craggy features left in its wake genuine sorrow among Braves' personnel.

Discuss Potentialities of Program

Five County Agriculturists Comment On Concept of Vertical Integration

By ALLAN BOVEY
Marion Star Farm Editor

Vertical integration, farm economists and many others agree, is coming to the livestock phase of American agriculture in no uncertain terms. This economic concept has already arrived, in large measure, in the broiler business. And it has existed for many years in non-livestock ventures, i.e., tomatoes, sugar beets and hybrid corn, to name a few commodities. The reasons for its advent may be several, but basically the prospect of contract farming (a layman's term for vertical integration) on a large scale has been engendered, say the economists, by an increasing inability of farmers to scrape together the capital necessary to swing the kind of operation tomorrow's agriculture picture is expected to call for.

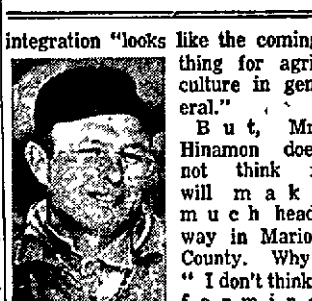

Vertical integration offers advantages to some, disadvantages to others. It sounds, to many, however, like the death knell for the independence of operation that today belongs to the farmer almost exclusively. Perhaps it is. But economists analyzing the concept are not so sure. They see no specific threat to the bulwark of individualism that has traditionally characterized the farmer.

Still, they caution the farmer to remember that "although the integrator may be certain he can make money for both you and himself, he is reminded that he is out for a profit on a capital investment and, towards that end, must, of necessity, have his own interest at heart first."

What do Marion Countians think about contract farming? The following are but five opinions. Do any of them coincide with yours?

(This is the last of a series on vertical integration, an economic concept which is expected to encompass virtually all phases of livestock production in years to come, much as it does presently in the broiler business and, to an extent, in truck farming. This account deals with comments on contract farming by five individuals connected closely with agriculture in Marion County.)

Leroy Hinamon, in general, is accomplished here on the scale which lends itself to a vertical integration program," he says. "I hate to see it coming," he asserts, adding: "It will signal the beginning of the end of what little independence farmers now enjoy. I for one am perfectly willing to take my own risks, do my own work and then reap the profit or loss from my endeavors, as the case may be."

Mr. Hinamon, who feeds between 60 and 70 head of cattle a year and who keeps 20 sows for twice-a-year farrowing, says emphatically that he "would not be interested" in a contract program for either venture. "I have no ambition to get 'bigger' than I currently am and it will suit me fine if vertical integration, as such, does not become an important factor in the Marion County agricultural picture."

LLOYD WILLIAMS, head of the Marion County soil conservation office, sees vertical integration as having "much value" for the young man, who, bent on a success in farming, finds himself with a limited amount of cash on hand. And, he sees in it the value of technical guidance and supervision for the farmer who is a novice in the art of feeding.

How contract farming will affect conservation programs is problematical, he says. "Each farm has its own particular conservation needs. If and when vertical integration, with its specialization, becomes a major consideration in this area, undoubtedly we will have to revise our plans to meet the requirements of specialized programs."

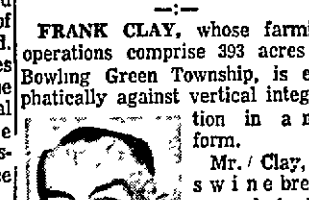

"A farmer here told me the other day, when speaking about specialization, that 'it's better to have your eggs all in one basket—so long as you can keep a close eye on the basket.'"

ELLWOOD PARROTT, county extension agent, observes that modern agriculture is requiring more and more managerial ability on the part of those engaged in any of the phases of processing or marketing.

He adds: "Farmers have been, and will continue to be, warned to be absolutely sure of their right and obligations before entering into a vertical integration program. Once they have signed a contract, there is precious little that can be done if the farmer suddenly finds himself 'holding a big, empty bag.'"

Asserts Mr. Parrott: "More and more vertical integration is coming to farming. Who will do it is up to the farmers themselves. They have the tools in their own organizations, but if they don't choose to do the job, some other agency surely will."

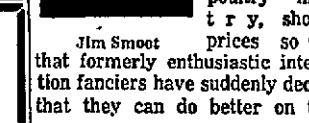

FRANK CLAY, whose farming operations comprise 303 acres in Bowling Green Township, is emphatically against vertical integration in a farm.

Mr. Clay, a swine breeder, declares that the inroads of contract farming will be the beginning of the end of the farm. "What can be done? Pathologist Janson suggests a spray of five gallons of liquid lime sulphur or two pounds of ferbam per 100 gallons of water, or a 4-4-100 Bordeaux mixture."

Trees should, this researcher thinks, get a shot now or next spring when air temperature is above 40 degrees Fahrenheit and will stay above the 40-degree mark for at least 48 hours. If so, control of the disease should be complete, he asserts.

Mr. Janson has only one word of caution: to control leaf curl, all twigs and branches must be thoroughly covered. Otherwise, time spent may well be time wasted.

JIM SMOOT, manager of the Marion branch of Producers Livestock Association, sees no economic advantage from integration in marketing and the production of large meat animals.

Mr. Smoot suggests that integration is a virtually ruined some phases of the poultry industry, showing prices so low that formerly enthusiastic integrators have suddenly decided that they can do better on their own.

"We have had types of integration for centuries," Mr. Smoot points out, but adds: "It stands to reason that when a man takes the risk and has his capital invested in any venture, it will be his prerogative to assume entire control."

"Many farmers have been reduced to hired hands with no control over feeding except to furnish the labor. In short, they may have only what is left after a supervised feeding program, where feed costs have been deducted on a retail basis."

How important will vertical integration be in Marion County? Who knows. There will, of course, be those interested in a contract program. How many is anyone's guess. Suffice it to say no one need be in the dark about all the pros and cons on the subject. If vertical integration comes into vogue, it will do so at the farmer's behest.

Staying Warm In Winter No Trick for Bees

People who worry about how bees can get along in cold winter weather had best worry more about themselves.

That's the advice of OSU extension bee specialist Charles Reese. Snow may cover the tops of hives and the temperature may drop well below zero, but bees, quite likely, are snugger than "bugs in a rug," Mr. Reese suggests.

He notes that bees cluster together inside the hive, their combined body heat often raising the temperature of the hive to a steady 90 degrees or more.

What hurts bees more than extreme cold is a fluctuating temperature. Cold weather causes moisture to condense in frost over the hive cluster. Then, when it turns warm, the frost melts and the hives become damp. Another cold snap and you have a hive of frozen bees.

The solution? Says Beeman Reese: "Bore a one-inch hole just below the front-hand-hole of the top hive body. This will let moisture-laden air escape from the cluster and will serve as a flight entrance in the event the bottom entrance is plugged with leaves, ice or snow."

Treatment Is Recommended For Leaf Curl

Leaf curl, a fungus disease of peaches, which was prevalent on trees in Ohio this summer, will be back in force next year, plant pathologists at Ohio State University are guessing.

Blair Janson, of the OSU extension staff, notes that if the disease is not controlled it may well play havoc with next summer's peach harvest.

Leaf curl deforms the leaves, causing them to fall from the trees. The obvious result is a decrease in both the number and size of fruit. What's more, diseased trees are extremely susceptible to winter kill.

What can be done? Pathologist Janson suggests a spray of five gallons of liquid lime sulphur or two pounds of ferbam per 100 gallons of water, or a 4-4-100 Bordeaux mixture.

Trees should, this researcher thinks, get a shot now or next spring when air temperature is above 40 degrees Fahrenheit and will stay above the 40-degree mark for at least 48 hours. If so, control of the disease should be complete, he asserts.

Mr. Janson has only one word of caution: to control leaf curl, all twigs and branches must be thoroughly covered. Otherwise, time spent may well be time wasted.

Cockshutt Takes Over Sales of Its Machinery

A. D. McLean, sales manager for Cockshutt Farm Equipment, Inc., has announced that the corporation is taking over the sales, service and distribution of its farm machinery. Franchises for these services were formerly handled exclusively by the Farm Bureau Co-operative Association.

Mr. McLean said that the move coincides with an effort by Cockshutt to expand in the Ohio area. Dealers will be appointed for the sales of Cockshutt machinery, which includes tractors, combines and a full line of farm working tools.

Home office for the concern in Ohio will be at Bellevue. Gordon H. Cleator is manager.

Dairy Convention Set

Dairymen from all parts of Ohio are expected to be in Cincinnati Jan. 19-21 for the 42nd annual convention of the Ohio Dairy Products Association.

Upwards of 800 persons are expected to attend the program, slated to be held in Cincinnati's Netherland Hilton Hotel.

Farm Econogram Here's Report on Prices and Economic Trends Prepared by Agricultural Extension Service

Capsule Outlook for 1959:
General Business
Gross national product, average about $465 billion; consumer spending, average about $302 billion; government expenditures, average about $98 billion; business investment, average about $65 billion; home construction, about 1.2 million starts; U.S. auto output, around 5.5 million; cost of living, up slightly.

Agriculture
Net farm income, five per cent to 10 per cent lower than in 1958, but still 5-16 per cent above 1957 net farm income; farm production costs, four per cent to five per cent higher than in 1958; greater need for efficiency, greater volume and lower unit costs.

Population — U.S. population on Jan. 1, 1958 passed the 175,500,000 mark; Ohio unofficially listed 3,590,000. U.S. now has over 50 million households with 43,714,000 family units. Since 1940 the trend in number of farm households has been generally downward which seems likely to continue in future years. Trend in number of all households is upward; expected to reach about 67 million by 1973.

Family incomes for 1957 showed median urban families income of $5,359, rural non-farm $4,894, rural farm $2,490 and average of all groups family income was $4,971—about four per cent higher than in 1956.

More on pig crop report: Latest estimates indicate that one per cent more pigs were produced last spring than in the spring of 1957. Average number of pigs per litter at 7.05 was second highest on record for spring crop, being exceeded only by 7.12 average in the spring of 1957. Pig crop in U.S. for entire year 1958 was eight per cent above 1957.

Pigs from sharply larger 1958 fall crop (up 17 per cent over year earlier) soon will be coming to market in volume. Look for hog prices to trend downward and by spring will likely be $4-56 per hundred below current levels.

Eggs: Still expect production first half of 1959 to run 4 to 6 per cent above same time a year earlier. This would cause price to be around five cents per dozen under a year ago. Look for egg type chicks to be hatched this spring for flock replacement to be down considerably from 1958 levels.

Kentucky Bluegrass seed crop estimated at 64.6 million pounds of cured seed. This is 11 per cent larger than 1957 crop and 37 per cent above 10 year average. State of Kentucky crop three times larger than their small crop last year along with increases in North Dakota and Missouri more than offset smaller crops in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, South Dakota and Nebraska.

Mr. Nicholson says, for individual awards, with some 9 clubs representing upwards of 200 youths to be lauded. Larry Dupre, chairman of the 4-H awards committee, will preside. An added feature will be a report on the National 4-H Congress in Chicago by Mrs. Earnest Converse of the Green Camp community.

Farm Bureau Member Drive Begins Jan. 19

Plans have been completed for the annual Marion County Farm Bureau Federation's membership drive, according to Robert Jones, drive chairman.

The campaign for member families will begin Jan. 19 and run through Jan. 30. A kickoff meeting has been scheduled for the 19th in the Progressive Grange Hall for final instructions.

A recognition supper and party for all workers has been slated for the Hall Jan. 31 at 7:30 p.m., with the losers to feed the winners of the drive at a potluck supper.

The county's township campaign captains have been divided into two teams — the "Chiefs" and the "Braves."

The "Chiefs" will be under Paul Fogle and composed of the following persons: Jack Sims, Salt Rock Township; Clifton Wenig, Montgomery; Carl Rider, Pleasant; Charles Mautz, Richland; Tom Fabian, Tully; Kirk Moreland, Grand Prairie; and Mr. Fogle, Waldo.

Making up the "Braves" unit will be: Ben Sager, captain; Dwight Wenig, Grand Township; Allen Longacre, Claridon; Howard Click, Marion; Delmar Risch, Big Island; Gurney Snyder, Scott; LeRoy Shroats, Green Camp; and Mr. Sager, Bowling Green.

The Prospect Township team headed by Mr. Jones will have its points equally divided between the two teams.

The quota for the county this year is 620 families. Last year's membership was 609 families.

Record Is Set For Testing of Cows in 1958

Marion County Makes New High for Animals Checked in December

Dairy farmers in Ohio placed a record number of cows on production testing programs in 1958, it is reported this week by the Ohio State University extension dairy service.

A total of 89,563 animals were on test, OSU figures show, including 52,573 cows on dairy herd improvement association (DHIA) check, and 36,990 under owner-sampler supervision.

All told, production records were kept on slightly more than 11 percent of Ohio's milk cows in 1958, representing a one per cent increase over 1957.

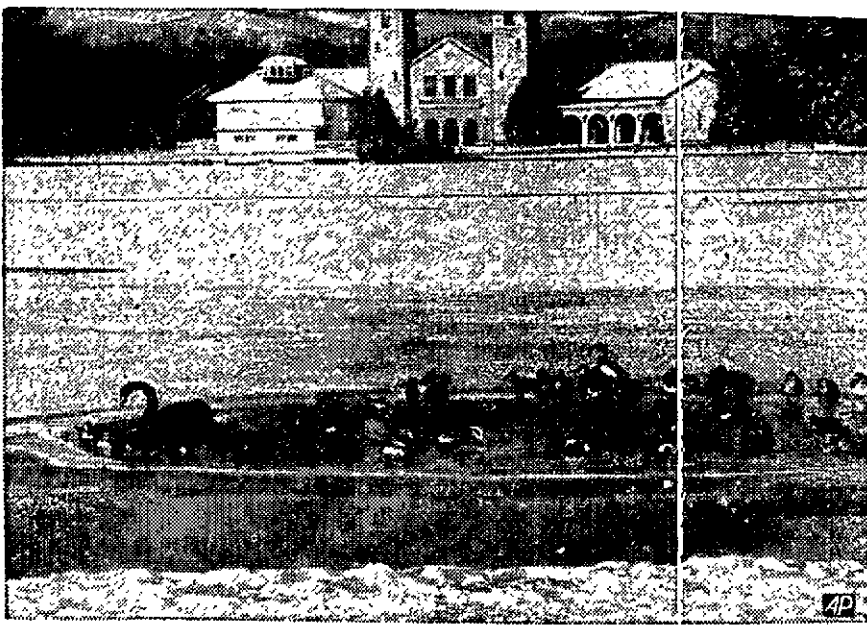

What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander, and in Marion County, for the month of December, a new mark was set for number of cows on test. Ellwood Parrott, county extension director, observes that about 1,000 cows out of a possible 5,600 to 5,700 were checked for production under either owner-sampler or DHIA supervision.

Under the standard DHIA plan, a supervisor visits the farm once a month to weigh and sample the milk from each cow. He may also weigh the feed. He calculates standard DHIA production and feed records for cows and herds and enters these records in a herd book.

Farmer Responsibility
Under the owner-sampler program, the DHIA supervisor leaves sample bottles and record sheets at the farm one day each month. The evening of that day, and the following morning, the dairyman weighs the milk yield of each cow and records the weight. And, he obtains a sample of milk for butterfat testing. The samples are then picked up by the supervisor and records calculated.

In return for his trouble, the dairyman gets both monthly and yearly reports on production of all cows in his herd, thereby giving him a close check on which animals are paying the feed bill and which ones are boarders.

President of the Ohio Dairyman's Association is Paul Daniels of the Kenton community.

County Swine Group Slates Annual Winter Event Jan. 21

The annual Winter Swine Day sponsored by the Marion County Swine Improvement Association will be an event of Jan. 21. It will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Coliseum.

The association has provided a program of particular interest to swine men in the county. At 10 a.m., the proceedings will commence with a talk on "High Moisture Corn Feeding for Hogs" by Herb Barnes, extension swine specialist at Ohio State University. Mr. Barnes will also discuss "Hog Buildings and Equipment to Fit the Needs of the Swine Grower."

A porkchop guessing contest and a review of what comprises a meat-type hog will be conducted at 11:15, with Wilbur Bruner, also of the OSU extension service, in charge.

Lunch will be served in the Coliseum promptly at 12:15, with a business meeting and election of directors to follow at 1 p.m.

The highlight of the afternoon will be a panel discussion on swine diseases, including leptospirosis, the latest findings on transmissi-

Holstein Ends Record
A Holstein cow owned by Billie Wingfield of near Ridgeway in Hardin County recently completed a production record, according to the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

B Mar Sovereign Fabst, 8-year-old producer milked twice a day over a 365-day period, pailed a total of 15,661 pounds of milk and 546 pounds of butterfat.

Sheepmen To Meet
The directors of the Marion County Sheep Improvement Association will meet at 1:30 p.m. in the extension office Thursday, according to Ellwood Parrott, county extension director.

Sinclair Wage Talk Snagged, Strike Looms

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Both sides have refused to yield in wage negotiations between Sinclair Oil Co., and the union representing the firm's production and pipeline workers, a federal mediator says.

"It doesn't look too good," said the mediator, John E. Pennell, after Tuesday's joint talks ended in an impasse. He scheduled separate meetings today with negotiators for Sinclair and the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union.

Strike notices that expire at midnight Saturday have been filed by the union with Sinclair and with most of the other 600 oil plants with which the union has contracts. The union has 105,000 members employed in the industry, including 9,500 by Sinclair.

"Expiration of our notice permits us to strike on or after Jan. 18," said B. J. Schafer, OCAW vice president who is negotiating with Sinclair.

The union has asked Sinclair for a 25 cents-an-hour wage increase or for 21 cents an hour plus fringe benefits. Sinclair has not offered a wage increase. The average wage now is $2.71 an hour.

FHA Chief Is Named to Top Housing Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Norman P. Mason, now federal housing commissioner, was nominated today to be chief of the Housing and Home Finance Administration.

President Eisenhower picked Mason, 62-year-old Republican, to succeed Albert M. Cole, whose resignation from the government's top housing job was announced Tuesday.

Cole is going into private industry as executive vice president of Reynolds Aluminum Service Corp., a Reynolds Metals Co. subsidiary. His job will be to develop the use of aluminum in construction.

Mason has been commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration, biggest unit of FHA, since 1954. He is a legal resident of Chelmsford, Mass.

Mason's selection is subject to Senate confirmation. In his new job he will get $21,000 a year—$1,000 more than he received as FHA commissioner.

Mason is a former chairman of the board of investment of the Central Savings Bank at Lowell, Mass.

Farm Bureau Appoints New Head for Plant

The new manager of the Farm Bureau chemical plant in Morrow County is Ollie B. Sullender, formerly of Lynchburg, according to Wayne Shidaker, director of divisional operations for the state association in Columbus.

Mr. Sullender, a member of the Farm Bureau family since 1944, has been plant manager at the association's Glendale plant since March 14, 1951.

Prior to associating with the Farm Bureau, he was with the Tennessee Corp. as a foreman 15 years and for five years as assistant superintendent.

A native of Cincinnati, Mr. Sullender, who is married and has three daughters, managed the Farm Bureau's chemical facilities at Maumee from 1941 to 1946, later served as production manager for the chemical processing division of the state association in Columbus.

Father Voices Forgiveness For Kidnaper

NEW YORK (AP)—"... Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us."

Frank Chionchio, 28, ecstatic over the safe return of his kidnapped infant daughter, was lifted by his compassion for her alleged abductor to a height of human forgiveness Tuesday.

He asked that no charge be pressed against the accused woman.

But the law was unyielding. Chionchio was persuaded to sign the complaint.

The woman, Mrs. Jean Iavarone, 43, twice-married widow, was held in $5,000 bail on a kidnapping charge, which carries a maximum penalty on conviction of 20 years to life in prison. She is in jail in lieu of bail.

Magistrate James A. Roe Jr. denied a request by the woman's attorney that she be committed for mental observation.

The request can be renewed when she appears in court again Jan. 20.

Mrs. Iavarone, mother of seven living children by her two marriages, was not called upon to speak during her brief arraignment. Her hands trembled as she listened to the court proceedings.

She is accused of taking Lisa Rose Chionchio from a nursery in St. Peter's Hospital, Brooklyn, Jan. 2, 2 1/2 hours after the child's birth.

A telephone tip Sunday led police to the woman's small Brooklyn apartment, where they found the baby alive and healthy, to climax one of the largest man-hunts ever staged in this city.

Reports Rebellion

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—An Argentine newspaper says another Latin-American dictator faces rebellion.

He is President Alfredo Stroessner of neighboring Paraguay. The newspaper Nacion said Tuesday that informed sources in Asuncion, Paraguay's capital, red a report of defiance of the dictator in the Chaco of northwest Paraguay.

OSU's Howard Among Top Rookie Crop for Dodgers

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Of the 16 newcomers on the Los Angeles Dodgers' 1959 roster, it is safe to say that a trio of young outfield hopefuls — Ron Fairly, Frank Howard and Don Mikes — are the prize prospects.

Especially Fairly, only 20, who seems destined for a long and fruitful career in the National League.

Alton is high on this left-handed hitter from Macon, Ga.

Makes Few Mistakes

"Ron played 15 games for the Dodgers last season and I didn't see him make a single mistake," the Dodger pilot said. "I like everything about him."

After hitting .297 at Des Moines of the Western League, and .290 in 16 games for St. Paul in the American Assn., Fairly finished with a .283 average for Los Angeles. He had 15 hits in 53 at bats, homered twice, drove in eight runs and fielded flawlessly in center field.

Howard, ex-Ohio State star who received a reported $100,000 for signing a Dodger contract, was the talk of the Three-Eye League last year with his fence-busting wallop.

Playing at Green Bay, Wis., the 22-year-old giant batted .333, drove in 119 runs and poled 37 home runs.

The Dodger brass thinks that with another year under his belt, probably at either Spokane or Montreal, he'll be ready for the majors.

Mikes, also 22, is a left-handed hitter who collected 23 homers with Victoria of the Texas League and St. Paul. Eighteen of these were hit at Victoria where he batted .325.

Last year he was tabbed by the Dodgers to spring training brain trust as the best new player since Mickey Mantle. He still has quite a way to go but the Dodgers are willing to wait.

Five Pitchers Studied

Five pitchers, a catcher, five infielders and as many outfielders comprise the new batch of Dodgers. Bill Harris, a 29-year-old fast baller with a 14-10 record at Montreal, may be the best of the pitchers.

Sherry's batterymate brother, Carey, 23, and Norm, has hopes to land a catching berth on the Dodgers.

Bob Lillis, 28-year-old shortstop appears to be the best of the infielders. Based on his showing after his recall from St. Paul last September, he may win a regular berth.

Earl Robinson, University of California star who received a $65,000 bonus to sign, will get a trial at third base. The 22-year-old is a graceful fielder with a strong arm although his hitting needs to be improved.

Next: Boston Red Sox.

Carey Defeats Salem Quintet In 87-63 Rout

CAREY — Carey rolled past Salem in an 87-63 non-league cage rout here Tuesday night to up its season record to six wins and four losses.

The Blue Devils jumped into a 28-7 lead in the first period and were never threatened. They led 53-29 at the half and went into the final eight minutes with a 69-40 cushion.

The only contest was a fight for individual scoring honors between Carey's Tom Greer and Dennis Everhart of the losers. Greer pumped in 30 points after playing only 20 minutes while Everhart finished with 26. Ron White added 14 for the local team and Dennis Yingling netted 11. Leo Smalley scored 13 for Salem and Wayne Holward netted 12.

The Carey reserve squad recorded its first win in the preliminary contest, nailing a 29-23 win in the last minute of play. Dick Tanner, who finished with 12 points, popped in a pair of last-minute field goals to give Carey the win.

The Blue Devils resume Sandusky Day Conference action Friday night when they entertain Clyde.

Lykens Takes 54-52 Verdict

SULPHUR SPRINGS — Lykens' hardcourt perfectionists continued their winning ways Tuesday night, downing Sulphur Springs 54-52.

The Tigers, now 10-2 overall and atop the Northern Ohio League with a 9-1 mark, came from behind to do the job. The visitors were down 19-15 at the quarter, and in arrears by a 33-27 count at halftime. After three quarters of play the victors were in the van by a slim three points in a 43-40.

Three Lykens cagers accounted for all but one of the Tigers' total points. Duane Stucky rolled in 21, Tom Gebhardt posted 18 and Al Stuckey got 14.

Wilbur Miller and Glen Disbent both hit for 14 to pace the Sulphur attack.

Lykens got only 4 of 17 free throws en route to the win, while Springsmen were blistering the Lykens' boards for 14 completions in 15 tries from the charity circle.

Lykens won the reserve game by a 41-38 count.

Oldest Bucyrus Grocery Converted Into Laundry

BUCYRUS — This city's oldest grocery closed its doors this week and will reopen in the near future as a laundromat. The Stout grocery, located near Bucyrus High School, went out of business after the corner building had served as a grocery for 53 years.

For the past 14 years, it has been operated by Mr. and Mrs. Stout, who will operate the laundromat. Before that it was operated for 39 years by the late Jonas A. Leifer.

The new business firm will be Bucyrus' first fully automatic coin-operated laundry, according to Mr. Stout.

Mr. Stout is a one-time Galion resident. He managed the meat department in the Kroger Store here for 11 years before purchasing the grocery. His wife is the former Mildred Talbott, a lifelong resident here.

Baker Quintet Registers Win Over Pleasant

Eber Baker basketballers played host to Pleasant Tuesday afternoon and downed the visitors 41-20.

It was the fifth win in six games for Coach Bob Geiger's Bulldogs and sends them into a game Thursday afternoon with Taft, with the Marion City League championship for Baker riding on the contest's outcome.

Since Baker is undefeated in loop play, while Taft has been beaten once and Edison twice, a win would give Geiger's cagers the title.

In the Pleasant action, Baker got off to a 16-5 quarter lead, was in the van 28-8 after two periods of play, and enjoyed a 30-11 advantage at the three-quarter mark.

All told, the Bakermen rolled in 19 goals and a trio of free throws to account for the victory. Pleasant managed 7 completions from the field and 6 in the free throw circle.

Jon Wilson paced the Bulldogs to victory, rimming Panda buckets for 8 goals for 16 points. King posted 10 for Pleasant on 3 goals and 4 free throws.

In the reserve game, Baker walked to a 20-17 decision, with Rick Sharon and Roger Phieffer both getting 8 points. Peacock and Lichtenberger hit for five points apiece for the Panda cause.

Crawford Car Sales Dip To Six-Year Low in '58

BUCYRUS — New automobile sales during 1958 in Crawford County were the lowest in six years, Clerk of Courts Mabel Mulen reported here today.

Sales last year totaled 1,219 compared with 1,770 sold in 1957 and the all-time high of 2,090 cars sold in 1955. Trucks sales also showed a decrease with 119 new units being sold in 1958 compared with 167 in 1957.

Rotary Club Speaker Outlines Philosophy To Ease Tension

A practical philosophy to combat the tensions of modern living was outlined by Walt Seifert of Columbus in a talk before the Marion Rotary Club Tuesday noon.

People living in the United States, some 175,000,000 of them, reside in the most wonderful country in the world but still many of them are unable to endure present-day civilization, he said.

In an effort to combat their tensions Americans bought $175,000,000 worth of tranquilizers and 12,000,000 pounds of aspirin last year, he pointed out.

This national "dis-ease" is one of the major problems facing this country today, Mr. Seifert said. A heavy percentage of illnesses among adults result from mental or emotional strain, he pointed out.

Citing the case of his own wife, who was seriously ill for 10 years, the speaker said that to him any event short of death actually became unimportant from a worry standpoint.

This is a rather harsh approach for most people, however, and he said he had formed a three-way reminder system that should be helpful and less drastic.

He said people in the United States should be:

1. Glad to be alive.

2. Glad to be in the United States.

3. Aware that life is short and should not be wasted.

The speaker was introduced by John Turner, program chairman for January. Guests were presented by Fred Baldauf.

Edison Grabs 32-27 Verdict

Edison Junior High School jumped out front early and coasted to a 32-27 win over Delaware Tuesday at the losers' floor.

The Marion team built up a 13-2 lead in the first quarter and was out front 21-9 at the half and 27-17 at the start of the final period.

Keith McFann topped the scoring for the winners with 12 markers while Tom Miller hit for 10. Wilson's 13 was high for the losers.

The win evened Edison's record at four wins and four losses. The next game will find Edison entertaining Prospect Thursday afternoon.

Buckeye Cage Star Idled by Sprained Back

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University's basketball team has suffered another blow, this time the loss of Larry Siegfried, 6-foot-3 sophomore from Shelby and the 'Bucks' second leading scorer.

Siegfried pulled a back muscle during a gymnastics class Monday and is lost for an indefinite period. While trainer Ernie Biggs said the injury is not considered serious, he added that it is doubtful Siegfried will be able to play against Northwestern here Saturday.

Coach Fred Taylor said he probably will start Jim Niehaus of Hamilton and Dave Barker at guards against the Wildcats. Captain Joe Carlson of Valley City, N. D., the other regular guard, missed the Michigan game with a sore foot and may not be ready to go this week.

Substitute center Howie Nourse of Springfield, who suffered a fractured cheekbone in practice, resumed workouts Tuesday wearing a special face mask. Forward Richie Hoyt of Mount Vernon, who has had both an ankle and knee injury, is nearing peak condition again.

"Losing Larry is about as tough as things can get," said Taylor. "But maybe this is rock bottom. Things have to start getting better sometime."

Siegfried has been averaging more than 15 points a game. He also is an outstanding playmaker and passer.

Oleantang Wins

LEWIS CENTER — Oleantang, playing host to Dublin Tuesday night, handed the visitors a 76-40 defeat. It was the sixth win in 9 starts for the Braves of Coach Bernard Celler, who stand 3-0 in Mid-Ohio Conference play.

Facing the Oleantang attack were Butch Cutler, Frank Swartz and Dave Hopper, posting point totals of 16, 10 and 13 respectively.

Loss Tops $750,000

Washington C. H. Fire Razes Methodist Church

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—Massive, steel-towered Grace Methodist Church, a landmark here since its construction in 1895, was destroyed in an early morning fire today.

Only the towers and the stone exterior remained standing. Colin Campbell, a member of the board of trustees, estimated the damage at $750,000 to $1,000,000.

A stone parish house about 15 feet away was badly damaged, but there was no immediate loss estimate. The parish house held the church's valuable library.

Sparks ignited the roofs of two houses and a gasoline station nearby, but firemen moved quickly and extinguished them.

No one was hurt.

The church, largest in Washington Court House, had a seating capacity of about 1,000. It is located about two blocks from the center of town and its towers made it one of the city's tallest buildings.

The fire department here received its first alarm at 3 a.m. Fire departments from eight neighboring communities sent men and equipment. In all, about 60 firemen fought the blaze.

The church itself was lost, but firemen brought the parish house under control by 4:20 a.m. Several small isolated fires continued to burn in the church where small streams of escaping gas ignited.

Fire Chief George Hall said the fire's origin has not been determined, but he said defective wiring in the belfry may be to blame. The blaze apparently broke out in the belfry, he said.

Billy Graham Continuing To Undergo Tests

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham was undergoing further tests today as Mayo Clinic specialists studied the serious eye ailment that brought an abrupt halt to the churchman's Southern tour.

The survey included a general physical examination to determine possible cause of a ruptured blood vessel behind the retina, which has cut Graham's vision 50 percent in the left eye. He said it causes no pain.

An early diagnosis by the evangelist's doctor father-in-law, Dr. Nelson Bell, Montreal, N. C., called the malady both rare and serious. Dr. Bell said the condition had arisen from excessive work.

Grady Wilson, Graham associate who accompanied him here, said no report was expected before Friday.

Strike Closes Markets

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP)—Collective bargaining talks were at a standstill in the 14-day-old Los Angeles supermarket strike today.

One thousand markets that normally handle 70 percent of the food business in Los Angeles County are closed. Small neighborhood markets are working overtime to take up the slack.

The clerks ask $2.5 cents an hour increase in wages and benefits over a five-year period; employers have offered a 50-cent package. Clerks earn $92 a week.

Wrong Sign

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—A visitor unfamiliar with pedestrian traffic signals telephoned police headquarters Tuesday asking directions to the state Capitol.

Desk Sgt. M. K. Gunby asked the caller his location.
